Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Beegan and son, Ralph, leave for Rock Run, Ala., to-night.

Mrs. Ewing, her son, Mr. Geo. Ewing, and Miss Sweetzer left to-day for Jacksonville, Fla.

Capt. Chas. Reese is talked of for trustee of Wayne township. The old veteran can have it if he seeks the place.

Councilman Dennis Monahan refuses to stand for re-election. Mr. Barney Fitzpatrick will be chosen in his place if he consents to run.

The case of Bates vs. the Grand Rapids and Indiana, which involves several thousand dollars, came up at Columbia City before Judge Olds to-day.

It is reported that famine threatens northern Russia, but it is a certainty that millions of colds will be bothering American people this winter. Against famine there is no protection, but for every cold there is a bottle or Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

There will be from three to four thousand dollars to loan by the Fort Wayne Building, Loan Fund and Savings association, on next Tuesday evening, to any person, whether a member or not, on approved real estate security, at their hall, in Odd Fellow's building, on West Berry street.

To-morrow, To-morrow.

Impress it upon your mind that to-morrow ends the great cost sale which has been the most successful for the month of February, in the history of our business career. We have done as we promised and have pleased everybody, done exactly as we advertised, treated everybody alike and given to our friends and patrons the best value ever sold for the money and feel positive that we have made many new customers that will duly appreciate our liberal offers to please.

Don't forget that you have still another day left to buy anything in the store at actual cost, if you have not yet attended the sale be on hand to-morrow as it is the last day of the cost sale.

Look out for big attractions this coming spring We will show you the best values for the money ever produced.

FEARFUL CYCLONE.

Mt. Vernon, Illinois, Laid Low—Scores of People Killed and Hundreds Wounded.

MT. VERNON, Ill., Feb. 20.—This city was visited by a cyclone at 4:50 p. m. yesterday. Not a house was left standing on the east, west, and south sides of the public square. Of the fifty business houses only six were left standing. The debris is burning. Thirty-five deaths and over a hundred wounded are reported. Many more deaths are probable, but owing to the confusion an accurate list cannot be given.

Under the burning debris lie men, women and children, some dead, others injured, and the flames are fast coming upon poor creatures whom others are powerless to aid; add to this shrieks of women, groans of injured, pleadings of those pinioned under burning ruins, and you will have some idea of this terrible calamity. Below is a list of dead and injured. There will be at least thirty-five deaths, and the list of injured will reach 200.

CENTRALIA, Ill., Feb. 20.—The firemen sent to Mt. Vernon returned this morning and report thirty-six found dead up to 5 o'clock this morning and a great many more wounded. The tornado struck the town at 4:35 yesterday afternoon. The supreme court building's roof is gone. The circuit court is leveled and the main business portion of the town and the churches are destroyed. The fires are all extinguished.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 20.—Mr. H. S. Reardon, the conductor of the Louisville and Nashville train which was caught in the tornado at Mt. Vernon, Ill., arrived here last night and says: "The thing that most impressed me was the destruction of the county court house, a magnificent three-story brick building, which stood in a prominent place and could easily be seen. It looked to me as though the huge pile of brick and mortar had been struck by a gigantic battering ram. It seemed to collapse all at once and spread to crush and bury the buildings surrounding it."

Marcus Aarons, a drummer for a Philadelphia house, who was a passenger on the train, says: "On reaching Mt. Vernon it began to thunder and lightning. Presently it began to rain and hail, driving every one to shelter. Just about this time a parteutious black cloud, funnel-shaped, was seen overhead. The cloud burst in a minute. It came with a roar and crash of a mighty battle. Houses of all descriptions went down, men, women and children ran hither and thither, screaming and praying in their peril and fright. A three story mill was blown across the track just behind us. Our train was lying in the track of the tornado and it was taken at a flying rate down the track. The engineer could not control the train, and fortunately for us the brakes were not on. Trees were uprooted and cars lifted off their wheels. The passage of the tornado must have occupied at least two minutes. The strange thing was that three minutes after the tornado the sun was shining brightly."

J. W. Wallace, agent of the Southern Express company, of Shelbyville, Tenn., also saw the storm from the train window, and said: "The cloud dipped down on the north side of the train, destroyed houses, then rose, passed over the train and dipped down on the south side of the train, where it destroyed another house. The passengers were thrown into a panic."

IN KENTUCKY.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 20.—A special to the Evening Times from Martenville, Ky., states that the tornado did little damage there. At New Haven, Ky., however, it blew down the Bardstown and Green river turnpike bridge, the original cost of which was over $77,000.

MT. VERNON, Ill., Feb. 20.—The tornado destroyed nearly three hundred residences and business houses, and unhoused from twelve to fifteen hundred people. Thirty-five were killed, while there were many more injured—eight or ten so seriously that recovery is despaired of. The storm was over in three minutes and the brave people rushed out of their safe retreats and unharmed homes to give assistance to the needy. The flames shot up with devilish mendacity and the fire company, aided by citizens who had organized in squads, began the work of rescue, which was carried out systematically.

The mayor filled his place admirably and in short order had called for assistance from the neighboring towns. Fire engines and physicians were wanted and Centralia, Ashley, Nashville and Evansville responded generously and quickly. The citizens threw open their houses to the homeless and their bedrooms became hospitals, while worthy matrons turned expert nurses.

What was left of the supreme court building was turned into a morgue and at noon to-day the following incomplete list of the dead was furnished by the Mt. Vernon Register:

Frank C. Lightman, blacksmith, Albion, Ill.
David Yearwood and wife.
Constable J. C. Murray.
Mrs. Russell Dewey and daughter.
Mary Westbrook.
Henry Waters.
Mrs. J. T. Waters and baby.
Charles Cummings, engineer.
Mrs. Cal Cooper.
Mrs. Wm. Jones.
James Pierson, telegraph operator.
George Pierson and son (colored), janitor of school house; body still in ruins.
John Shrew.
Mrs. L. E. Legg.

The citizens as soon as the injured had been released from their perilous positions and the wounded turned over to their care, the physicians held a meeting and organized permanently. The city council acted promptly and appropriated $500 for immediate relief.

MT. VERNON

Is a beautiful city of four thousand inhabitants and the county seat of Jefferson county. Its streets are broad and well lined with shade trees and the residences are trim and home-like. It is situated on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, about seventy eight miles from St. Louis. The surrounding country is rolling. Heavy storms have never before visited this region and it was considered safe from any such destructive element.

NATIONAL BANKING

In the State of Indiana From Figures Reported to the Treasury Department.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The officials of the treasury department have prepared some interesting statements relating to the annual operations of the national banking system, from which has been collected the following, local to Indiana:

here are at present in the state ninety-three National banks, having an aggregate capital invested amounting to $11,894,500. The surplus fund of these banks has considerably increased within the past year, the sum so held being $3,531,613.-12, while their undivided profits amount to $1,505,052.20. Their outstanding circulation has suffered the reduction common to all the country, it now being $4,217,870, a decrease of nearly $700,000 within twelve months. On the other hand the individual deposits have run up nearly $2,000,000, now aggregating $25,254,102.80. The total liabilities of the banks reach the sum of $50,083,821.40.

The Indiana national banks have out as loans and discounts, $25,030,386.10, and they have on deposit with the treasurer of the United States, to secure their circulation, bonds to the amount of $4,723,800, while the bonds to secure deposits are in the sum of $1,200,000. The real estate owned by them is valued at $1,223,100.41.

It may be of interest to know how the banks have their losses placed; hence the following classification: On single name paper, $3,392,224.93; on United States bonds, $38,151.61; on other stocks and bonds, $691,577.24; all other loans, $23,663,365.21.

While the Indiana national banks are required to have a lawful money reserve of $3,778,670, they actually hold as such reserve, $8,138,062.

Since the organization of the national banking system 152 banks have been organized in the state, but fifty-nine have gone out of existence.

The total capital, surplus, undivided profits and individual deposits of all banks in Indiana is $58,874,744 88, which, upon the basis of an estimated population of 2,228,200, makes the average per capita $26.42. The average per capita of the same sums held by national banks is $18.87.

In the order of capital invested Indiana ranks tenth among the national banking states.

GEN. PHIL SHERIDAN.

Would Not Accept the Presidency if Nominated.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Gen. Phil Sheridan was asked the question if he would accept the presidency if the republicans nominated him. He replied: "Nominate me? I would not accept. But there is not the slightest probability of my being nominated, and, in any event, I would not accept. No. Not under any circumstances. I do not want that or any other civil office."

Republican Nominations.

WABASH, Ind., Feb. 20.—Saturday night at the republican city convention, the following ticket was nominated: For mayor, Harry C. Pettit; clerk, Howe McGuire; treasurer, B. R. Kendall; marshal, Hale Ellis; assessor, John Cochran.

Miss Julia Marlowe in "Ingomar," at the Temple to-night.

THEY GO FREE.

Wilshire, the Fidelity Banker, is Released and a Nolle Advised in Miss Josie Holmes' Case.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 20.—The diteriot attorney in the United States court this morning moved a nolle of the indictment against J. W. Wilshire, charged with violating the United States banking law in connection with E. L. Harper, of the Fidelity National bank, on the ground of inability to prove the charge and that the defendant had been used as a witness.

The court allowed the motion and Mr. Wilshire and his bondsmen are released. Circuit Judge Sage said a similar action should be taken with the indictment against Miss Josie Holmes and this will be done soon.

The United States court has remanded the case of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad company against Ives and others to the state court. Judge Jackson decided that the plaintiff was entitled to unite all of the defendants in one suit to compel the cancellations of alleged illegal certificates and hence there was no "separable controversy" as to any of the parties. Hence, as some of the defendants were citizens of Ohio, the cause was remanded to the state court. The decision as to the joinder of the parties was made upon the authority of the New York and New Haven railroad company vs. Schuyler, reported in the Seventeenth New York and similar cases.

NO REST FOR LIQUOR MEN.

Last Wholesale House at Sioux City Seized by the Sheriff.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Feb. 20.—The wholesale liquor houses of William Lerch and E. K. Ressigue were closed by the sheriff yesterday, at the instance of the Law and Order league, for making sales in violation of the Clark law. This closes all the wholesale liquor houses in this city.

These houses had operated under permits granted by the board of supervisors to sell for certain legal purposes. The Law and Order league claim to have sufficient evidence to show gross violations of the law and indiscriminate selling for illegal purposes. This is probably the case. If so, the consequences are sweeping. The stock, which has been seized, will be confiscated and destroyed.

Moreover, the violation of the law works the forfeiture of the permits, and permanent injunctions will be issued against the places as nuisances. Such a result will go very far to wipe out the remnants of the whisky business in this city. There is one other liquor house, that of Joe Marks, but he is only closing out his stock, and is allowed by the league to do this only under heavy bond to go out of the business permanently on the 1st of May.

Too Fond of Lotteries.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 20.—F. D. Poupart, confidential clerk of Adolph Schrieber, treasurer of the Cotton exchange, is a defaulter for $23,000. Poupart had charge of the bank box which contained the city and state bonds belonging to the Cotton exchange. He pledged the bonds to three banks—the Germania, the National Bank of Commerce and the Mutual National bank—and squandered the money received in lottery tickets. Suits were filed against the banks for the recovery of the bonds. Poupart and an accomplice, George Penser, have disappeared.

Hearty at 103.

SHELBYVILLE, Ill., Feb. 20.—Mrs. Wm. Dutton enjoys the distinction of being the oldest resident in Effingham county. She was born in 1785 and will celebrate her 103d anniversary next month. She has seventy-three children and grandchildren. She used tobacco until she reached 100, and stopped because she feared it was injuring her health. She is still hale and hearty.

Looking for a Lost Brother.

JAMESTOWN, D. T., Feb. 20.—William Gleason, of Mount Sterling, Ill., who came here to search for the remains of his brother Robert, who was supposed to have perished near Pingree in the storm of last month, has returned to Jamestown after a long and unsuccessful search. He will remain here until spring, or until such time as the snow melts, and then renew the search.

Obtained Cattle by False Pretenses.

GREENSBURG, Ind., Feb. 20.—The jury in the case of Frank Elder, a stock buyer of this county, and well known to cattle men of Cincinnati, who has been on trial here for a day or two, charged with obtaining cattle by false pretenses, returned a verdict of guilty, fixing his punishment at one year in the state's prison.

W. W. Corcoran.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—11:30 a. m.—The friends of Mr. W. W. Corcoran say his condition this morning is very critical and his death is liable to occur at any time.

Resuming Work

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—Thirty-nine of the forty-five colleries of the Reading Coal and Iron company are reported in operation this morning.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, February 20.—Indiana: Colder, fair weather.

THE CAPITAL CITY.

The President Recommends That the Treaty of the Fishery Conference be Made Public.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The senate has received a copy of the treaty drawn up by the fishe conference. It will be read in secret session this afternoon.

Senator Sherman is now closeted with the executive clerk and is reading the president's message, which recommends that the treaty be made public. The recommendation will be taken into consideration in secret session this afternoon.

MURDERED HIS COUSIN.

The Fearful Results of a Love Quarrel.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 20.—Henry C. Grote killed Fred Behrens in the parlor of the residence, No. 1,218 Montgomery street. The two young men were cousins and lifelong companions. Both were paying attention to Miss Bertha Simonds, who resides with her parents at the above number. They have always been the best of friends until very recently, when their attentions to the girl made each jealous of the other. They met in the parlor, and quarrelled in the lady's presence. After an exchange of epithets and bitter words Grote drew a revolver and, actually thrusting the muzzle in his cousin's mouth, blowed the top of his head off. Behrens died instantly, and Grote was arrested.

A BADLY DAMAGED CHARACTER.

Mr. Donovan Wants $10,000 for Alleged Libel.

BIG RAPIDS, Mich., Feb. 20.—The Big Rapids Herald reported, Saturday, that one James Donovan had brought suit against the Hon. M. P. Gale, G. F. Stearns, J. P. Underwood, C. W. Comstock and J. G. McElwee for defamation of character, claiming damages of $5,-000. Donovan now retaliates by sueing William P. Nisbett, editor of the Herald for $10,000, claiming that the Herald article is libelous.

Missing for Months.

FLEMINGSBURG, Ky., Feb. 20.—Wellington Barnes, a wealthy gentleman of this county, also in the banking business at Geneva, Kan., left the latter place for a hunt in the Indian territory two days after Christmas, since which time nothing has been heard from him. He had arranged his business matters for an absence of not to exceed two weeks, and his family and friends here entertain the gravest apprehensions as to his safety. He has very large interests here.

Defaulter Lucas Makes a Threat.

WAPAKONETA, Ohio, Feb. 20.—The Lucas $12,000 was to-day sent from Toronto. Lucas claims that he was only a thief by compulsion and promises to tell a story of blackmail and misery that will arouse the sympathy of the suffering public. A female and exorbitant demand is his excuse for his infamy. His story is believed only by a few.

Foreign News.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—A heavy snow has fallen in the north of England. Railroad traffic is seriously delayed. Thousands of sheep are buried in the snow. A few persons have died from exposure.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Judge O'Rourke and Judge Chapin listened to motions and issues to-day.

Hon. C. A. Munson and Dr. Geo. W. Loag will go to Indianapolis to-morrow.

Benjamin F. Steinman and Alice Victoria Gibbons have been licensed to wed.

Dr. Younge thought his horse and buggy was stolen to-day, but the outfit was afterward found.

Hon. Eli W. Brown, of Columbia City, one of the most prominent democrats in Indiana, is in town to-day.

George Pressler, who was specially deputized by Sheriff Viberg, took Chas. Hastings, to the prison north to-day.

John Case, who is charged with stealing a ham from John Shaffer, the Grand street grocer, will have a hearing before Esquire Ryan Wednesday.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Wheat, easier, at 75 15-16c. Corn, lower at 47⅛c. Oats, easier; May, 31⅛c. Rye, 60c. Prime timothy, $2.49. Flaxseed, $1.44@1.45. Whisky, $1.15. Pork, lower, at $13.97½. Lard, steady, at $7.80. May short ribs, $7.50.

A BARBER in London has recently performed a rather clever feat. The shop was full of customers, and one of them was undergoing the operation of shaving, when it was noticed that the barber had his eyes closed, though he still kept passing the razor over the face of his visitor. After some time, and when the operation was finished, what was the surprise of those in the shop to hear the barber exclaim: "O no, not yet," at the same time opening his eyes. It then became evident that he was fast asleep, and had shaved the man while in that condition.

AFTER TASCOTT.

The Authorities are Close Upon the Heels of the Alleged Snell Murderer.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Chief Hubbard received a dispatch yesterday afternoon that Tascott, the Snell murderer, had been seen at Leaf River, ninety-seven miles from Chicago, in a buggy, by a former schoolmate, and that he drove away in a buggy. The officers went after him last night and expected to overtake him within forty eight hours.

Tascott is not as old as first reported. He is only twenty-one, and instead of being five feet nine inches, he is probably not over five feet eight and a half. One of his chief traits is his fondness for pool playing and his expertness at the game.

FIFTEEN CARS DERAILED.

A Bad Wreck on the Pittsburg Road, Near Warsaw, Last Night.

One of the worst freight wrecks that has occurred on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad for some time happened last night at 8 o'clock to freight train No. 73, at Kosciusko, a small station five miles this side of Warsaw. The cause of the wreck could not be learned at the company's depot this morning, although the officials were free in giving all the particulars they knew about it.

In some manner fifteen loaded freight cars were derailed and tumbling over on their sides the contents, consisting of all kinds of merchandise, were scattered about in a promiscous manner over the muddy ground. The cars were badly smashed up, but none of the employes of the train were injured. The merchandise that was thus unceremoniously unloaded consisted of dry goods, groceries, &c., and in the wreck, the boxes containing them were shattered to pieces and the goods were injured greatly by the rain that fell during the night.

The wreck blockaded the track all night and it was impossible for trains to pass. Passenger train No. 4, due here this morning, was compelled to go around by the way of North Manchester and struck the Pittsburg track again at Columbia City arriving in this city nearly three hours late.

JACK DENAHY.

He Was Arrested at Crestline and Narrowly Escaped Lynching at Dunkirk.

Last Friday night, when Engineer Jack Denahy, of the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne road, got into the Crestline round house with his engine, the sheriff from Dunkirk, Ohio, was there to receive him.

The next day, Saturday, he was taken to Dunkirk, Ohio, to answer the charge of seducing and betraying a girl at that place. When Denahy and the officer alighted from the train they found an excited mob to receive them. The crowd yelled "There he is," "Get a rope," "Lynch him," and otherwise made it anything but comfotrable for the prisoner. He, however, was not caught napping, for he had with him an attorney from Crestline. His purpose was to show that he was under bonds in this city on a charge of betraying Mary Middleton, a Fort Wayne girl.

While under bonds in Indiana he could not be held in Ohio, and in that way got out of an ugly predicament.

The officer had all he could do to protect him from the mob and lock him in a hotel until last night, when, under cover of darkness, he returned to this city.

The girl Denahy is said to have seduced at Dunkirk is an imbecile and has been since childhood, hence the anger of the people.

POLICE PICKUPS.

The Sabbath Work is Given in a Nutshell.

There was nothing startling in police circles over Sunday.

The record below gives the news in the department briefly, but with illustrated effect.

Martin Nagle, drunk, jail.
William Smith, drunk, $12, paid.
Ira Bowen, drunk, $12, paid.
Tillie Tillman, drunk, $12, paid.
Andrew Smith, public indecency; Minnie Steinman, prostitute; Jacob Hiser, keeping open saloon on Sunday, $18.00.
Charles Galliger, gambling, $17.00.

Officer Humbrecht stepped into Hiser's saloon last night and discovered six or seven men gambling. The fellows leaped through windows and all got away, save Galliger.

Hiram College President.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 20.—Rev. E. V. Zollars, the pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, has accepted the presidency of Hiram college, of Hiram, Ohio.

Mrs. Harriet Koehler, the wife of Mr. Michael Koehler living on Calhoun street, south of the city, died at 1 o'clock this afternoon aged 41 years, of lung fever. The funeral has not yet been announced.

MONDAY, FEB. 20, 1888.

THE president and Mrs. Cleveland will leave Washington for Florida, tomorrow, accompanied by Secretary and Mrs. Whitney, Colonel and Mrs. Lamont. They expect to return Saturday.

THE defendants in the Ohio tally sheet forgeries seem to have played havoc with Rascal Granville's testimony. The whole thing is clearly proven to be a republican scheme to injure prominent democrats.

THE Americans seem to have decidedly the best of the fisheries business and the Canadians are just realizing the fact. Their redress is to annex themselves to the United States and reap the reward of democratic diplomacy with us.

THE republicans of Indiana are hopelessly divided between Harrison and Gresham as presidential favorites. The Gazette is for Gresham and claims originality in that particular domain. This harmony in the radical ranks is cheering, indeed.

BRUNO G. SCHMITZ, the artist and architect whose design for the Indiana soldiers' monument was selected by the monument commission, has arrived at the state capital from Germany. It will be two months before work will begin on the elegant tribute to Hoosier soldiers.

MR. GEO. W. CHILDS, of the Philadelphia Ledger, says that if "by any chance in the chapter of unforseen events" he should happen to be elected president, he would decline the office. Mr. Blaine could lift an oppressive load off of republican minds by a declination like Mr. Childs makes.

THIS congress seems to be disposing of the surplus money in the United States treasury in a manner to suit the most fastidious protectionist. Something like $80,000,000 for the Blair educational bill, $30,000,000 for public buildings, and $20,000,000 for rivers and harbors, make a wide gap in the revenues of the government.

THE result of the special election in Michigan to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Congressman Moffat is attracting wide attention. The district at one time gave 8,000 republican majority. Two years ago Moffat was elected by over 2,000 majority. Seymour's majority over Breen at the recent special election will not exceed 100 votes and the issue, too, was purely on the tariff.

GOVERNOR GRAY is at Washington and may find it convenient to impress the statesmen there that we can carry Indiana easier than Don M. Dickinson can win Michigan from the republicans, a great deal easier than Mr. Vilas can carry Wisconsin or Mr. Black Illinois. Indiana is a democratic state, all things being equal, and Mr. Gray can make a certainty of it.

Frequently happens that parties divorced will, in after years, make up and remarry. But this is not often the case when a church divides. We are happy to note, at least, one instance where a church has become reunited after years of separation. Twelve years ago a serious disruption occurred in the First Baptist Church of West Chester, Pa., which resulted in the formation of a new society. Neither the old nor the new seemed to thrive. Recently the two branches "made up," were remarried, and now go on their way rejoicing in renewed prosperity.

AFTER many years of experimenting, with the object of increasing the speed of vessels and lessening their draft by a change in the formation of the hull, a Pennsylvania inventor has succeeded in constructing a boat which he claims fulfills the desiderata so long sought, and is in entire accordance with true scientific theory. This boat, which is some thirty-six feet long, is of the shape known as the concave bottom, the hull being built in a right and left hand spiral form from the bow to the middle section. The conformation of the hull in this case is such as to displace water in a manner closely approximating to the wave-line theory, beginning at the cutwater, the displacement being accomplished gradually until the center of the boat is reached, when the reverse action of displacement begins; the concave begins where the convex ends. The greater the speed the greater the lifting power, the boat rising on the water, and consequently moving with greater speed without any increase of power.

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

AN English correspondent gives as a reason for possibility that the English language will become the "world-speech" the mental slowness of the Anglo-Saxon race in learning two languages. They traverse the globe unaffected and undismayed by its eccentricities of speech. The English-speaking countries have an area of more than one-fifth of the whole habitable globe. English is the language of the high seas, and is spoken in every maritime port.

WHEN Gen. Frank Spinola, who is a member of the present House of Representatives from New York, was in the State Senate at Albany, one Peter Mitchell had been zealously advocating a bill to increase the number of local Judges. A New York newspaper accused him of a selfish interest arising out of his desire to get one of the proposed new judgeships. Next day Peter rose to denounce the allegation and defy the "alligator." "Why, Mr. President," he said, with fine scorn, "I would not take one of those judgeships if it should be handed me on a gold plate." "May I ask the gentleman a question?" put in Spinola. "Certainly," responded Mitchell, loftily. "What would become of the plate?" asked Spinola. And he sat down amid the laughter of the Senate.

H. A. DUBUQUE, of Fall River, Mass., has a document showing unmistakable signs of age, dated Nov. 6, 1735. It reveals that there were oyster beds in the Taunton River in those days, and that the settlers fought for their possession. Daniel Brown, of Somerset, was the writer, and was evidently giving testimony, for he relates that on the day in question he saw a number of his acquaintances in three canoes, engaged in raking up oysters. A quarrel arose over their respective rights, and Daniel writes that one man repeatedly plunged a fork into the body of another man until he thought that "murder had been done." The paper is torn at a point where Mr. Brown's "eyes became riveted on the combatants," and nobody knows whether anyone was killed or not.

A VERY good showing is made by the Freedman's Aid Society of the work it has accomplished. The society has established twenty-four schools, employing 124 teachers, with an average attendance of 4,506 pupils. There are fifteen schools for whites, with an attendance of 2,000. To carry on the work on the plans proposed for next year will require almost $250,000, and of this sum only $700 is on hand. Since its foundation the society has expended almost $2,000,000 in the work of education in the South, and has school property of almost $1,000,000 in value in its possession. The receipts for last year were $184,424.55, of which sum the conference collections amounted to $85,930. Bequests yielded $24,000.25. Of the receipts of $184,424.55, only $20,957.55 was paid by students. The total expense for the year amounted to $183,689.96.

Glass Mill-Stones.

Glass mill-stones consist usually of eight sections of glass fastened together by the use of strips of wood, nine millimetres wide, to which the glass is cemented. After cementing the parts together a piece of wood three centimetres broad and one thick is cemented about the outer circumference of the stone, reaching to its entire height. This increases the cohesion of the stones and makes the attachment of the outer iron hoop more easy. This iron hoop is fastened by means of fifty wooden screws to the wooden hoop, about five millimetres below the grinding surface, and in such a manner as to admit of easy removal without breaking. The eye of the stone, as well as the indirect grinding surface, consists of pure cement. A ring in the aperture at the center insures durability and strength at that point. The glass grinding surface has a mild grip or roughness which it never entirely loses. A dress is employed similar to that used on sweetwater quartz stones, and the glass stones must be dressed as carefully and often as French stones, though the work is easier. Those who think the surface will hold ten to fifteen years without dressing are laboring under a great mistake.—Berliner Muller Zeitung.

Sleeplessness.

Narcotics and sedatives murder sleep; the unnatural stupor is soon followed by ill effects. Simmons Liver Regulator removes the cause of restlessness and sleeplessness by regulating the bowels, by establishing good digestion and by quieting the nerves.

"I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and loss of sleep. As soon as I feel the least nervous I take a dose of Simmons Liver Regulator, and sleep all night."

MRS. R. BRYANT, Griswoldville, Ga.

THE setting of a great hope is like the setting of the sun. The brightness of our life is gone. Shadows of evening fall around us, and the world seems but a dim reflection, itself a broader shadow. We look forward into the coming lonely night. The soul withdraws into itself. The stars arise, and the night is holy.—Longfellow

TENDERNESS makes a woman grateful; a noble manhood compels all her deep instincts of love.—Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney.

Everybody needs a spring medicine. By using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the blood is thoroughly cleansed and invigorated, the appetite stimulated, and the system prepared to resist the diseases peculiar to the summer months. Ask for Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Take no other.

One Thing Proved, Anyway.

Any one with half an eye can see that the object of the Republicans in their action in the house in the Carlisle-Thobe contest was to embarrass the majority and delay the proposed action upon tax reduction. Happily that absurd contest is now ended, and we hope to see the Democratic majority now push on with the work. This contest proved one thing that is worth something to know—that the leaders of the Republican party cannot prevent a split among their members, which was demonstrated also in the senate in the Lamar contest.—Colorado Transcript.

Grasping at Straws.

Will the leaders of the Republican party never have done with the preposterous claim that their organization crushed the institution of slavery? Is the record of that party so lean and rank that, in order to make a decent showing, it must be padded with false pretenses? Is political capital so scarce on the Republican side that the facts of recent history must be falsified to meet distressful contingencies? And do those leaders place so low an estimate on popular intelligence that they really expect to be believed when they set up false claims?—Washington Post.

What Difference Does It Make?

With a robust Sherman boom in Ohio, a wheezy little Jerry Rusk boom in Wisconsin, kept alive by careful nursing; a Robert Lincoln boom in Illinois, which keeps Robert in continued ill temper, and a Stanford boom in California—expensive—with Hawley, Hiscock, Evarts, Don Cameron, Harrison, the Hoar family and Russell Lowell all waiting to be boomed, the Republicans may have a happy time.

As these booms now look Mr. Blaine will have to kill off a good many rivals before he wins.—New York Herald.

Why New York Should Have It.

Gen. Roger A. Pryor thinks that it would strengthen the Democratic party in all parts of the country if the national convention should be held in New York. He does not think it ought to go to Chicago, which city is in a state invincibly Republican, while New York, on the other hand, is Democratic, and the holding of the convention in its metropolis would have a decided effect in arousing a deep and profitable interest in the campaign.—Atlanta Constitution.

What Fun!

Murat Halstead announces that a terrible and bloody war may break out at any moment in this country. It would be interesting to watch Murat's capers if any of the battles should take place close to Cincinnati.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

A Vain Hope.

It is fatuousness, pure and simple, for any Republican to hope for accessions to his party in the south when the best and most respectable Republicans in the north have left or are leaving the organization.—Atlanta Constitution.

Has He Thought of This?

Mr. Blaine, having become an authority on tobacco, should come out squarely on the cigarette question. If he is to have the support of the cigar smokers he must condemn the cigarette.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

His Career Shown Up.

Senator Kenna, in his sensible reply to Senator Sherman's war tariff speech, did not let the opportunity slip to diffuse some useful information about Sherman himself.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Welcomed by All.

Mr. Cox leaves the speaker's chair with the ruddy light of a glorious "Sunset." Mr. Carlisle returns with a warm welcome from 325 representatives. There are no more.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Luck in White House Visits.

Another of Mrs. Cleveland's schoolmates, Miss Kate Willard, is visiting at the Executive Mansion. With a delightful impartiality the fair mistress of the White House is slowly going the rounds of her old school friends, inviting one after another to enjoy the novel and charming experience of a short stay at "the Palace," as the young ladies have christened the altogether commonplace edifice that serves the president for both offices and mansion.

A pretty young girl who belongs to what is called the White House set, and who has met nearly all of Mrs. Cleveland's visitors, said to a correspondent at a recent reception: "It would be easy enough to know what an awfully nice girl Mrs. Cleveland used to be just by meeting the splendid girls that come to visit her. No lady could have such a lot of delightful chums, unless she were just as nice as she could be herself. And these are not the sort of girls that come to see her because they can visit at the White House. They love her, and would go anywhere to spend a day with her. I hear, though, that a pretty little superstition is afloat among her old schoolmates that the best of luck always follows these visits to Washington. Several of the girls that have been down here have got married since their return home, and all the rest of them are engaged. The girls think it is better than finding a four-leaf clover, and those who have not been here are crazy to come."—Washington Cor. Boston Globe.

The Big Gun at Pittsburg.

The big cast gun at Pittsburg is now in its second stage, that of boring, which will probably occupy the rest of this month, since the process of turning the gun around the fixed tool must be deliberately executed, although the process itself is among the simplest as well as most familiar in gun making. The present is only the rough boring, and the rifling is to be done afterward, but the interest excited in it is due to the anxiety to know the quality of the steel in the interior of the mass, as revealed by the scraps turned out. Thus far, as inch after inch the hole is deepened, the material proves as good as could be desired, and so confirms the expectations excited by testing the parts trimmed away from the breech. As this gun was cast solid, it is specially important to know how the steel in the interior, when bored out, would compare with that on the surface.

When all is done an exciting contest may be looked for on the Annapolis proving ground. First it will be found whether the cast six inch gun can pass the government tests for acceptance, and then there may be an endurance test with a built up gun of the same caliber—a fight to a finish, to see which will burst first.—Washington Letter.

The annual horseradish fair near Berlin is a great event. At the recent fair 700 tons of horseradish were disposed of; also several hundred thousand kegs of beer.

A Great Thinker on "Convictions."

Benjamin Franklin, somewhat known to fame in this country and the whole civilized world as a patriot, philosopher, and statesman, delivered a characteristic speech to the convention which framed the United States Constitution, before appending his signature to that document. The following is an extract from his speech:

"Mr. President, I confess that I do not entirely approve of the Constitution at present; but I am not sure I shall never approve of it—for having lived long I have experienced many instances of being obliged by better information or fuller consideration, to exchange opinions, even on important subjects, which I once thought was right but found to be otherwise. It is, therefore, that the older I grow the more apt I am to doubt my own judgment, and to pay more respect to the judgment of others. Most men, indeed, as well as most sects in religion, think themselves in possession of all truth, and that when others differ from them it is so far error. Steele, a Protestant, in a dedication tells the Pope that the only difference between our two churches in their opinion of the certainty of the doctrine, is Romanish church is infallible and the Church of England is never in the wrong. But though many private persons think almost as highly of their own infallibility as that of their own sect, few express it so naturally as a certain French lady, who in a little dispute with her sister, said: 'I don't know how it happens, sister, but I meet with nobody but myself who is always in the right.'"

People who pride themselves on fixedness in one opinion, whether in politics or religion, on having "convictions" that cannot be shaken, may draw from the above a lesson to lodge in their memories. Let them try to imitate the broadness and strive after a little portion of the wisdom that the great Franklin displayed on so many momentous occasions. One actually feels more contented when he realizes that he is not altogether a superior being, too immaculate for this world of error and contention. No religious sect has all truth, no party all the patriotism, and no individual can claim unerring accuracy of perception and judgment. —Chapman Courier.

THEY tell this story of M. Carnot, uncle of the President of the French Republic: Napoleon Bonaparte, when first Consul, was one day amusing himself on the banks of the minature lake at Malmaison by throwing stones into the water near a boatful of ladies who were with Josephine. The ladies were dressed in rather expensive summer toilets, and, as the stone throwing of the magnate caused them great annoyance, they protested. Napoleon, however, continued his amusement, when a little boy, 4 years old, who had been looking on, ran up to him and said: "You brute of a first Consul, will you leave off tormenting the ladies?" The Consul stopped as if stupefied, and on seeing the boy, burst out laughing. The youthful knight-errant was young Carnot, who had accompanied his father, Napoleon's Minister of War, to Malmaison.

HEEL AND TOE.

His cheeks were full, round and red; the face of a fine, [illegible] child. The little fellow had been coasting; his feet were wet and cold—chilled to the bone. He had a fine time, he said, and was shortly ready for bed, where he was "tucked in" by his gentle mother, and was soon asleep. In an hour he waked cross and crying. "Mamma," he said, "mosquitoes is eating my feet up." That was just it. He was feeling for the first time the pangs of chilblains. Jack Frost had nipped his toes. We grown people don't appreciate how children suffer. If a hundred mosquitoes went to work at once on a man's bare foot, he would know what that child suffered. A burning, itching swelling that becomes a torture, and leaves the feet so tender they will hardly bear weight. It is not because we do not sympathize, but because we do not seek out and find what will give prompt and permanent relief that they are condemned to this racking torture, without sleep, night after night. Now, in proof a case may be cited to show that people are sometimes so crippled by frost bites as to be helpless and thrown out of work in consequence. Miss Kate Shults, Mount Washington, Baltimore county, Md., writes, under date of October 22, 1884: "After being told by two prominent physicians that they could not give me any cure for frost bite, I tried St. Jacob's Oil and it proved a blessing. Every winter I was prevented from earning my living by frost bite, but since using the Oil I have not been troubled with it." It is, in its nature, the very thing; acting as a gentle counter-irritant, it draws out the fever and fire produced by the frost, reduces the swelling, heals the soreness, and there are no tender feet afterward. Now, for mercy's sake, when you see a little one tortured in this way, remember this. The feet becoming once tender and sensitive are subject every winter to a return of this plague.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

OH! MY HEAD.

The pain from Neuralgia and its companion disease Rheumatism is excruciating. Thousands who could be quickly cured are needlessly suffering. Ath-lo-pho-ros will do for others what it did for the following parties:

Williamsport, Ind., Oct. 3, 1887.
Having been afflicted with neuralgia for the past four years, and trying almost everything, but in vain, I finally heard of Athlophoros. After taking one bottle I found it to be helping me, and after taking four bottles of Athlophoros and one of Pills, I found that I was entirely well. I think the medicine is positively a sure cure.
CHAUNCEY B. REDDICK.

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Dec 26, 1887.
I have used Athlophoros in my family and find it to be the greatest medicine for neuralgia in existence and having had its fangs fastened upon me for the past 30 years I know whereof I speak. MRS. JULIA CHILTON.

Wrong

To imagine that the treatment of Constipation consists merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. This is what Simmons Liver Regulator always does.

"As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels."—W. J. McELROY, Macon, Ga.

Believe us, when we tell you that most of the despondent feeling (the blues) is the effect of a Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Weakness of Stomach, and Nervousness. A dose of Simmons Liver Regulator invariably relieves, cures and prevents a re-occurrence.

"I find Simmons Liver Regulator, very safe, harmless and valuable as a family medicine, and have used it for any disorder of the system, and have found it to act like a charm, and I believe that if it was used in time, it would prove a great preventive of sickness. I have often recommended it to my friends, and shall continue to do so."—Rev. JAMES M. ROLLINS, Fairfield, Va.

Simmons Liver Regulator is given with safety and with the happiest results, in almost any ailment, to the most delicate infant as well as to the adult. For all diseases in which a laxative, alterative, or purgative is needed, it will give the most perfect satisfaction. It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. ZEILIN & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhœa, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

GHOSTS AT SEA.

In the seventeenth century a ship was about to sail from Salem, Mass., for England, Her cargo was under hatches, her sails bent and her passengers aboard, when two strangers came to her and engaged passage. The couple were a young man and woman who, so tradition says, were endowed with wonderful beauty. Who they were or from whence they came none of the good folk of Salem knew. Long before the ship sailed, she being detained by adverse winds, the mysterious actions of the strange couple had aroused the suspicions of the townspeople, and there were many who pronounced them witches, if, indeed, they were not demons—actual children of Satan in fleshy guise. Many even went so far as to prophesy disaster to the vessel if they should sail in her, and approached the captain and urged him to decline to carry them to sea. The bluff seaman refused to listen, and, the wind serving, the vessel sailed upon a Friday. She never reached her destination and was never spoken. It is told, however, that later in the year incoming vessels, fisherman, and coastwise traders reported sighting a craft with luminous rigging and sails and shining hull and spars. She was sailing with all canvas against the wind, with a crew of dead seamen standing in the shrouds and leaning over the rail, while upon the quarter deck stood a young and beautiful corple.

OLD whalemen as they sat spinning yarns about the stove at the ship chandler's tell of meeting in the Japan Sea or Indian Ocean a small, lumpy ship, managed by a crew of graybeards—the sail tattered and patched, and the running rigging spliced in a hundred places. The hull was battered and stained and the paint was worn completly off the planking, and as she rolled in the sea-way it was noticed that her hull below the water-line was covered with a thick coating of barnacles. As the speaking vessel came alongside this seaworn craft the crew, with imploring gestures, begged to be taken off, and stated that they were young men when the vessel sailed; that they had found no whales, and that the master had sworn to cruise until filled. As they told their strange story the captain rushed from the cabin, and, waving an iron hook that supplied the place of his lost right hand, drove the crew from the side, and shouting to the man at the wheel, the mysterious whaler's course was changed, and as she sailed away she seemed to vanish in a mist that suddenly surrounded her. The old whalers who listened to this yarn would wag their heads sagely and acquiesce in the deduction that such an apparition could only bode ill to those who witnessed it.

THE fisherman of Gaspe sometimes see a ship sailing into the bay. She is of strange antique build, with high poop and forecastle and is quaintly rigged aloft. Her deck is covered with troops, and from her ports and cabin windows bright lights stream through the darkness. At the heel of the bowsprit stands an officer, with richly laced coat and feathered hat, who points to shore as though showing the place of landing to a lady who is leaning on his arm. Suddenly a shriek of horror is heard, the lights disappear and the vessel slowly sinks. This apparition is said to be the specter of the flagship of a fleet sent out by Queen Anne that was lost with all on board.

In 1752 the Dutch trading vessel Palatine was wrecked on Block Island, and the story is told that the wreckers made short work of stripping her and setting fire to the hull. As she drifted blazing off the coast it is said that a human form was visible amid the flames, the form of a female passenger on the wrecked craft, left to perish by the wrechers. Since, and usually upon the anniversary of the wreck, a phantom ship with blazing hull, charred spars, and scorched sails and rigging, has been seen cruising off Block Island, and has been regarded by coasting captains as a sure forerunner of bad weather and disaster.

THE legend of the famous ocean specter, the Flying Dutchman, has formed the theme of song and story until its salient features are familiar to the landsman as the tale of the Cock lane ghost, yet few realize that Vanderdecken is still cruising, bringing disaster to every craft he encounters, as he battles the storms of the South Atlantic in futile attempts to double the Cape of Good Hope, as he swore to do, in spite of God or Satan, if he sailed till eternity. Vanderdecken's craft has been usually sighted to leeward, making good weather under full sail against the force of a gale that causes other vessels to run under bare poles.

COTTON MATHER tells how a new ship sailed from New Haven, 1647, and was never heard from. In June of the same year, about an hour before sunset, a ship the very twin of the ship that had sailed in January was seen to sail up the river against the wind and current. As she drew nearer she grew indistinct and slowly disappeared from view. This visitation was held to be a notification of the loss of the outgoing ship, and it was commented upon in the pulpit.

"Can't eat a thing." Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, regulating digestion, and giving strength.

How Politeness Won a Dry-Goods Salesman Fame.

Some years ago, a dry-goods salesman in a London store had acquired such a reputation for courtesy and exhaustless patience that it was said to be impossible to provoke from him any expression of irritability or the slightest symptoms of vexation. A lady of rank, hearing of his wonderful equanimity, determined to test it by all the annoyances with which a veteran shop visitor knows how to tease a salesman. She failed in the attempt, and thereupon set him up in business. He arose to eminence in his trade, and the mainspring of his latter as well as his earlier career was politeness. — Merchant Traveler.

It is a good rule to accept only such medicines as are known to be worthy of confidence. It has been the experience of thousands that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best medicine ever used for throat and lung diseases.

About Marriage-Ties.

The Roman husband took his wife not as her husband but as her father. She came into his family the same almost as an adopted daughter. Originally the husband had absolute and complete control over her property. Even after his death she was subjected to any guardianship that he might have had appointed for her during his lifetime. But a change came in her condition, and came as changes usually come, from one extreme to another. The wife was now subject to the tutelage of guardians appointed by her own family. This tutelege gave her a very independent position as to her separate estate and person.

If the Romans did not countenance polygamy the Hebrews did, and they had a more peculiar custom. There was a law among them called the Levirate, which means brother-in-law, and, according to this law, at the death of the husband the next oldest unmarried brother-in-law of the widow married her, if there were no children. In this way the wife of the eldest brother might, in the course of time, have been the wife of all the brothers. This custom afterward extended to many of the western nations, but the marriage took place whether there were any children or not.

Pioneer marriages in this country, not a century ago, has some resemblance to a Hebrew wedding. In those days the marriage was the cause of great excitement, and the whole neighborhood was usually invited. As the houses of the bride and groom were generally far apart the groom started early in the morning on a horse as highly caparisoned as the times would allow. The marriage generally took place before noon, to enable the whole party to return to the groom's home before dark.

The marriage was always celebrated at night and the bridesmaids were provided with lamps to meet the bridegroom when he came. On his arrival he found the bride, bridesmaids, and company awaiting him. As soon as the actual ceremony was over the entire party returned to the bridegroom's house with great rejoicing. When they reached the house they partook of the wedding feast. The festivities usually lasted fourteen days. The groom not only furnished the feast but the robes of those who took part in the ceremony.

There is in the Royal library of Paris a written contract made in 1297 between two persons of royal birth in Armigal. The husband and wife were bound to each other for seven years. It was also agreed that the parties should have the right to renew the tie at the end of that time if they mutually agreed; but if not, the children were to be equally divided and if the number should chance not to be even they were to draw lots for the odd one.

There was another kind of marriage called polygnia, and like the Levirate, it extended to the western countries. This, however, did not gain much foothold among the Hebrews. Polygnia was simply polygamy reversed. According to it the woman was the head of the house, and might have as many legal husbands at one time as she pleased. Her children bore her name and recognized her as the head of the house.

The Roman Church alone regarded marriage as a sacrament, but all the other churches recognize it as a divine institution, and, accordingly, every denomination has provided religious services for its solemnization. So strong a hold did the church in England gain upon it that for a long time the regulation of marriage and divorce was almost exclusively under the church's jurisdiction.

Some of the customs attending a Hebraic marriage were peculiar. The bridegroom dressed himself in the most gorgeous style he could command. He next perfumed himself with frankincense and myrrh. Then he went forth covered with garlands, or, if he were rich, he would wear a circlet of gold and ride a gayly caparisoned horse.

The Reason Why

Ayer's Pills are so popular is, that while always reliable as a cathartic medicine, they never leave any ill effects. This is because they are purely vegetable, and entirely free from calomel or any other dangerous drug. In all cases, therefore, whether the patient be old or young, they may be confidently administered.

In the Southern and Western States, where derangements of the liver are so general, Ayer's Pills have proved an inestimable blessing. D. W. Baine, New Berne, N. C., writes:

"I suffered a long time with stomach and liver troubles. I tried various remedies, but received no benefit until I commenced taking Ayer's Pills. These pills benefited me at once. I took them regularly for a few months, and my health was completely restored."

Throughout New England, next to lung diseases, Stomach and Bowel Complaints are the most prevalent.

Dyspepsia

and Constipation are almost universal. Mr. Gallacher, a practical chemist, of Roxbury, Mass., who was long troubled with Dyspepsia, writes:

"A friend induced me to try Ayer's Pills, and, after taking one box without much benefit, I was disposed to quit them; but he urged perseverance, and, before I had finished the second box, I began to experience relief. I continued taking them, at intervals, until I had used eleven boxes. Suffice it to say, that I am now a well man, and grateful to your chemistry, which outstrips mine."

The head and stomach are always in sympathy; hence the cause of most of those distressing headaches, to which so many, especially women, are subject. Mrs. Harriet A. Marble, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., writes that for years she was a martyr to headache, and never found anything to give her more than temporary relief, until she began taking Ayer's Pills, since which she has been in the enjoyment of perfect health.

Views on the Jordon.

Rapid, turbulent and dangerous as is this historic river, rich beyond all others in sacred associations, it has, notwithstanding its numerous violent rapids, intervals of quiet beauty. Unique, like the Dead Sea, in which it finally loses itself, this remarkable stream is well worth attentive consideration. Well calculated in its physical phenomena for the symbolic use it has served, its singular features as studied by the traveler are strongly illustrative and suggestive in connection with sacred story. Actual distance from the place where the Jordon emerges from the Sea of Galilee to its final destination, where it is merged in the Dead Sea, is only sixty miles; yet so multitudinous are its doublings and windings that measurements proves its crooked course to be not less than 200 miles. Not in slow and graceful curves is the distance run gracefully from its rise, about 600 feet below the level of the Mediterranean, but turbulently plunging its muddy torrent over a series of violent rapids, there being not less than twenty-seven such rapids between the Lake of Tiberius and the Dead Sea, it descends to a depth of 1,300 feet below the Mediterranean where it merges with the Dead Sea, and its rapid torrent and frequent floods make it a terror rather than an object of delight to those who dwell along its circuitous shores. Only from twenty to thirty yards in breadth, the few and dangerous fords and the sudden terrible floods which rendered bridges useless even when possible, all tended to make this remarkable river an excellent barrier between the Israelites and licentious idolators from whom they were to be cut off. No wonder that Naaman, the proud Syrian, in view of the peculiarities of the Jordon, exclaimed when directed to bathe in its waters: "Are not Abana and Pharpar, rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel?" The present bathing place of pilgrims is the traditional site of our Lord's baptism, the famed "fords of the Jordon," sought by all travelers. Deeply cut in the marly soil is the channel of the river. Its waters throughout most of its course are hidden from the eye. From an elevation, however, its flow may be determined by the thick green foliage of luxuriant oleanders, willows and tamarisks which cluster on its banks. It were easy to point many a moral as we glance with the mind's eye along the Jordon's course. Each can do this best, however, for himself. Memories of the sacred word bring their own rich suggestions.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is worthy your confidence. It is peculiar in that it strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. Give it a trial.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Near Lagro it was found, consisting of a wire fastened to it and running into a house near by occupied by an old man who was utilizing the electricity to cure his rheumatism. One end of the wire hung down, and touching the ground, destroyed the circuit for telegraph use. The granger will not do so again.

The suit of John W. Beckdolt vs. the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad Co., appealed from Jay county, was affirmed by Judge Niblack. He holds that railroads are not required to fence their tracks or stations and sidings, where either freight or passengers are received and discharged, or across streets or highways or at other points where public convenience will not permit fences to be erected, and are not consequently liable to pay for animals which may wander upon their tracks at such places and be killed without negligence on the part of such companies.

Confirmation clothing, &c at cost, before removal. Our stock made especially for the occasion and complete throughout.

SAM, PETE & MAX.

Geo. E. Koester, of Piqua, Ohio, is in the city.

Mr. H. C. Eastwood, the proprietor of the Robinson house, leaves this evening to attend the G. A. R. encampment at Indianapolis.

The Northern Indiana Superintendents and Teachers' association will hold a three days' session at Logansport beginning March 28. Supt. J. C. Black, who is chairman of the executive committee, is arranging for the meeting.

The revival meetings which have been in progress at the Baptist church for a number of weeks, are growing in interest and power and Pastor Northrop is meeting with much encouragement. The meetings continue Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week.

A delegation of prominent Chicago democrats passed through the city Saturday night en route to Washington to interview the national democratic committee at its meeting Wednesday next, relative to holding the national convention at Chicago. The tourists took supper at the McKinnie house and expressed a determination to capture the convention unless New York wants it. They will not measure strength with New York.

SEVEN DEATHS.

The Work of the Silent Slayer Since Last Saturday.

Merlia, the three-day-old child of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Walkins, died Saturday of exhaustion and was buried yesterday afternoon.

Hertense, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Droegemeyer, of 55 West Lewis street, died yesterday. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Maria Moldthan, aged sixty-eight years, the wife of Mr. William Moldthan, of Hoagland Station, died Saturday, after a lingering illness of consumption. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from the residence.

Miss Mattie Shaffer, the sister of Mrs. J. M. McConnell, of this city, died yesterday morning at 8 o'clock at her home in St. Louis, Mo. The young lady has visited this city and had a number of acquaintances here, who will mourn her early death. Mr. and Mrs. McConnell were at her bedside at the time of her death.

Mary, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Loney, of 274 West Jefferson street, died yesterday of bronchitis. The funeral took place this afternoon.

The funeral of the late Barney Behnen occurred yesterday afternoon and was the largest witnessed in Fort Wayne for a long time. The services were at St. Paul's Catholic church and there Rev. Father Koenig paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the deceased, whom he characterized as the acme of human nobility and the best of friends. The interment was at the Catholic cemetery. The sermon was preached in the German language and was one of the tenderest ever preached by Father Koenig.

Died, Frank Prince, son of Isaac and Lotta Prince, of bronchitis. Funeral to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 44 West Fifth street. Friends of the family are invited to attend.

Ada, the two and a half year old daughter of Mr. John Quinn, of 46 Hanna street, died yesterday. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning from the Cathedral.

MISS JULIA MARLOWE.

All the Chicago Critics Do Her Rare Honors.

Miss Julia Marlowe closed her engagement at the Chicago Grand opera house Saturday night in "The Lady of Lyons," and with her party arrived in the city this morning, to present "Ingomar" at the Temple opera house to-night.

The Chicago Times, yesterday, speaking of Mrs. Langtry, said: "And yet she (Mrs. Langtry) has large audiences night after night, a fact with which nobody would be disposed to quarrel if, while it is in progress, a young actress, Miss Julia Marlowe, whose every nerve is vibrant with the thrill of veritable dramatic gifts, were not left to play in another theatre to almost empty benches."

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "Miss Marlowe succeeded in two important particulars; she addressed the voice of prophecy to the understanding of her critics, and she aroused radically conflicting opinions in the minds of her intelligent few patrons. This was much to do. On the one hand was established belief in her future; on the other was set assurance that Miss Marlowe, young, inexperienced, undeveloped physically as well as artistically, has talent above mediocrity if it does not rise to the commanding heights of genius."

Col. George H. Humphrey Post.

The new Col. Geo. H. Humphrey G. A. R. Post was mustered in Saturday evening by Capt. H. C. Eastwood, assisted by Post Commander Allen H. Dougall, Post Commander J. C. Kensill and other visiting comrades from Anthony Wayne and Sion S. Bass posts. The following officers were elected:

Frank Alderman, post commander.
F. R. Weldon, senior vice.
B. W. Skelton, junior vice.
Ferd F. Boltz, surgeon.
Crawford Griswald, chaplain.
R. G. Renfrew, quartermaster.
Wm. Delvin, officer of the day.
Matthias Cramer, officer of the guard.
W. N. Barden, representative to the state encampment.
Frank R. Weldon, alternate.
Geo. D. Adams, adjutant.
Wm. N. Barden, sergeant major.

Dr. G. P. Barnum, the East Columbia street livery stable man, is letting funeral hacks for $3 and they are the finest vehicles in the city. Call on or telephone him. 8-tf

The Grist of News Monday Morning Sends up From the Railroads and Manufactories of the City.

Wm. Bartels, a moulder in the Bass foundry, is on the sick list.

Frank Wilson, the Grand Rapids train dispatcher, has ordered a new bicycle.

Philip Reutscher, a machinist in the Pittsburg car shops, is off duty to-day.

E. W. Cook, the pleasant cashier at the Wabash freight office, is on the sick list.

There was a large sprinkling of railroad men at the Temple Saturday evening.

Michael Ryan has resigned his position at the organ factory and will go to Kansas.

H. K. Gregory, traveling passenger agent of the Wabash, was in the city yesterday.

The Kerr Murray foundry is only working a small force of men at the present time.

The wreck at Kosciusko made all the trains on the Pittsburg road late this morning.

The number of Knights of Labor in good standing in the United States is about 700,000.

Mr. James A. Graham, the general foreman of the Pittsburg shops, has gone to Altoona, Pa.

James Hardigan, the Nickel Plate engineer, has been visiting at Columbus, Ohio, for a few days.

The Pittsburg had another wreck last evening. An account of it appears elsewhere in to-day's paper.

The Bass works are making a new high speed engine for the electric light works at Columbia City.

George Kalor, a brakeman on the Grand Rapids, had his hand injured at Kendallville Saturday while coupling cars.

George Reed, formerly of the Pennsylvania company's offices here, but now of Allegheny, Pa., was in the city last week.

Two new mogul locomotives have been put on the Lake Shore recently. They have cylinders 18x24 and weigh 39,000 pounds each.

The employes of the Fleming manufactory raised a purse of $30 and presented it to Wm. Wefel, one of the employes of the works, who has been sick for over a month.

Stephen Brann, the engineer at the Bass works, had a fierce battle with four cats yesterday afternoon, but, with the assistance of a club and other help, he finally routed the felines.

Henry Peck, a carpenter in the employ of the Bass foundry and machine works, is doing honors over the arrival of a new boy heir at his house, which made his appearance Saturday.

An item which appeared in this column Saturday, relating to the arrival of a new heir at the home of one of the Pittsburg employes, was incorrect. Our reporter was wrongly informed.

Eighty per cent. of the locomotive engineers and firemen of the Chicago and Alton railroad will have their pay increased next month. The passenger engineers are to be paid $3.50 per hundred miles, the freight engineers $4 per hundred, with the addition of fifty cents on way freights and coal branches. The firemen are to receive 55 per cent. of the engineer's pay on passenger trains, and 55 per cent. on freight trains.

FEARFUL CYCLONE.

Mt. Vernon, Illinois, Laid Low—Scores of People Killed and Hundreds Wounded.

MT. VERNON, Ill., Feb. 20.—This city was visited by a cyclone at 4:50 p. m. yesterday. Not a house was left standing on the east, west, and south sides of the public square. Of the fifty business houses only six were left standing. The debris is burning. Thirty-five deaths and over a hundred wounded are reported. Many more deaths are probable, but owing to the confusion an accurate list cannot be given.

Under the burning debris lie men, women and children, some dead, others injured, and the flames are fast coming upon poor creatures whom others are powerless to aid; add to this shrieks of women, groans of injured, pleadings of those pinioned under burning ruins, and you will have some idea of this terrible calamity. Below is a list of dead and injured. There will be at least thirty-five deaths, and the list of injured will reach 200.

CENTRALIA, Ill., Feb. 20.—The firemen sent to Mt. Vernon returned this morning and report thirty-six found dead up to 5 o'clock this morning and a great many more wounded. The tornado struck the town at 4:35 yesterday afternoon. The supreme court building's roof is gone. The circuit court is leveled and the main business portion of the town and the churches are destroyed. The fires are all extinguished.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 20.—Mr. H. S. Reardon, the conductor of the Louisville and Nashville train which was caught in the tornado at Mt. Vernon, Ill., arrived here last night and says: "The thing that most impressed me was the destruction of the county court house, a magnificent three-story brick building, which stood in a prominent place and could easily be seen. It looked to me as though the huge pile of brick and mortar had been struck by a gigantic battering ram. It seemed to collapse all at once and spread to crush and bury the buildings surrounding it."

Marcus Aarons, a drummer for a Philadelphia house, who was a passenger on the train, says: "On reaching Mt. Vernon it began to thunder and lightning. Presently it began to rain and hail, driving every one to shelter. Just about this time a portentious black cloud, funnel-shaped, was seen overhead. The cloud burst in a minute. It came with a roar and crash of a mighty battle. Houses of all descriptions went down, men, women and children ran hither and thither, screaming and praying in their peril and fright. A three story mill was blown across the track just behind us. Our train was lying in the track of the tornado and it was taken at a flying rate down the track. The engineer could not control the train, and fortunately for us the brakes were not on. Trees were uprooted and cars lifted off their wheels. The passage of the tornado must have occupied at least two minutes. The strange thing was that three minutes after the tornado the sun was shining brightly."

J. W. Wallace, agent of the Southern Express company, of Shelbyville, Tenn., also saw the storm from the train window, and said: "The cloud dipped down on the north side of the train, destroyed houses, then rose, passed over the train and dipped down on the south side of the train, where it destroyed another house. The passengers were thrown into a panic."

IN KENTUCKY.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 20.—A special to the Evening Times from Martenville, Ky., states that the tornado did little damage there. At New Haven, Ky., however, it blew down the Bardstown and Green river turnpike bridge, the original cost of which was over $77,000.

MT. VERNON, Ill., Feb. 20.—The tornado destroyed nearly three hundred residences and business houses, and unhoused from twelve to fifteen hundred people. Thirty-five were killed, while there were many more injured—eight or ten so seriously that recovery is despaired of. The storm was over in three minutes and the brave people rushed out of their safe retreats and unbarmed homes to give assistance to the needy. The flames shot up with devilish mendacity and the fire company, aided by citizens who had organized in squads, began the work of rescue, which was carried out systematically.

The mayor filled his place admirably and in short order had called for assistance from the neighboring towns. Fire engines and physicians were wanted and Centralia, Ashley, Nashville and Evansville responded generously and quickly. The citizens threw open their houses to the homeless and their bedrooms became hospitals, while worthy matrons turned expert nurses.

What was left of the supreme court building was turned into a morgue and at noon to-day the following incomplete list of the dead was furnished by the Mt. Vernon Register:

Frank C. Lightman, blacksmith, Albion, Ill.
David Yearwood and wife.
Constable J. C. Murray.
Mrs. Russell Dewey and daughter.
Mary Westbrook.
Henry Waters.
Mrs. J. T. Waters and baby.
Charles Cummings, engineer.
Mrs. Cal Cooper.
Mrs. Wm. Jones.
James Pierson, telegraph operator.
George Pierson and son (colored), janitor of school house; body still in ruins.
John Shrew.
Mrs. L. E. Legg.

The citizens as soon as the injured had been released from their perilous positions and the wounded turned over to their care, the physicians held a meeting and organized permanently. The city council acted promptly and appropriated $500 for immediate relief.

MT. VERNON

Is a beautiful city of four thousand inhabitants and the county seat of Jefferson county. Its streets are broad and well lined with shade trees and the residences are trim and home-like. It is situated on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, about seventy eight miles from St. Louis. The surrounding country is rolling. Heavy storms have never before visited this region and it was considered safe from any such destructive element.

NATIONAL BANKING

In the State of Indiana From Figures Reported to the Treasury Department.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The officials of the treasury department have prepared some interesting statements relating to the annual operations of the national banking system, from which has been collected the following, local to Indiana:

here are at present in the state ninety-three National banks, having an aggregate capital invested amounting to $11,894,500. The surplus fund of these banks has considerably increased within the past year, the sum so held being $3,531,613.-12, while their undivided profits amount to $1,505,052.20. Their outstanding circulation has suffered the reduction common to all the country, it now being $4,217,870, a decrease of nearly $700,000 within twelve months. On the other hand the individual deposits have run up nearly $2,000,000, now aggregating $25,254,102.80. The total liabilities of the banks reach the sum of $50,083,821.40.

The Indiana national banks have out as loans and discounts, $25,030,866.10, and they have on deposit with the treasurer of the United States, to secure their circulation, bonds to the amount of $4,728,800, while the bonds to secure deposits are in the sum of $1,200,000. The real estate owned by them is valued at $1,223,100.41.

It may be of interest to know how the banks have their losses placed; hence the following classification: On single name paper, $3,302,224.98; on United States bonds, $38,151.61; on other stocks and bonds, $691,577.24; all other loans, $23,663,365.21.

While the Indiana national banks are required to have a lawful money reserve of $3,778,870, they actually hold as such reserve, $8,138,062.

Since the organization of the national banking system 152 banks have been organized in the state, but fifty-nine have gone out of existence.

The total capital, surplus, undivided profits and individual deposits of all banks in Indiana is $58,874,744 88, which, upon the basis of an estimated population of 2,228,200, makes the average per capita $26.42. The average per capita of the same sums held by national banks is $18.87.

In the order of capital invested Indiana ranks tenth among the national banking states.

GEN. PHIL SHERIDAN.

Would Not Accept the Presidency if Nominated.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Gen. Phil Sheridan was asked the question if he would accept the presidency if the republicans nominated him. He replied: "Nominate me? I would not accept. But there is not the slightest probability of my being nominated, and, in any event, I would not accept. No. Not under any circumstances. I do not want that or any other civil office."

Republican Nominations.

WABASH, Ind., Feb. 20.—Saturday night at the republican city convention, the following ticket was nominated: For mayor, Harry C. Pettit; clerk, Howe McGuire; treasurer, B. R. Kendall; marshal, Hale Ellis; assessor, John Cochran.

Miss Julia Marlowe in "Ingomar," at the Temple to-night.

THEY GO FREE.

Wilshire, the Fidelity Banker, is Released and a Nolle Advised in Miss Josie Holmes' Case.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 20.—The district attorney in the United States court this morning moved a nolle of the indictment against J. W. Wilshire, charged with violating the United States banking law in connection with E. L. Harper, of the Fidelity National bank, on the ground of inability to prove the charge and that the defendant had been used as a witness.

The court allowed the motion and Mr. Wilshire and his bondsmen are released. Circuit Judge Sage said a similar action should be taken with the indictment against Miss Josie Holmes and this will be done soon.

The United States court has remanded the case of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad company against Ives and others to the state court. Judge Jackson decided that the plaintiff was entitled to unite all of the defendants in one suit to compel the cancellations of alleged illegal certificates and hence there was no "separable controversy" as to any of the parties. Hence, as some of the defendants were citizens of Ohio, the cause was remanded to the state court. The decision as to the joinder of the parties was made upon the authority of the New York and New Haven railroad company vs. Schuyler, reported in the Seventeenth New York and similar cases.

NO REST FOR LIQUOR MEN.

Last Wholesale House at Sioux City Seized by the Sheriff.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Feb. 20.—The wholesale liquor houses of William Lerch and E. K. Resigue were closed by the sheriff yesterday, at the instance of the Law and Order league, for making sales in violation of the Clark law. This closes all the wholesale liquor houses in this city.

These houses had operated under permits granted by the board of supervisors to sell for certain legal purposes. The Law and Order league claim to have sufficient evidence to show gross violations of the law and indiscriminate selling for illegal purposes. This is probably the case. If so, the consequences are sweeping. The stock, which has been seized, will be confiscated and destroyed.

Moreover, the violation of the law works the forfeiture of the permits, and permanent injunctions will be issued against the places as nuisances. Such a result will go very far to wipe out the remnants of the whisky business in this city. There is one other liquor house, that of Joe Marks, but he is only closing out his stock, and is allowed by the league to do this only under heavy bond to go out of the business permanently on the 1st of May.

Too Fond of Lotteries.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 20.—F. D. Poupart, confidential clerk of Adolph Schrieber, treasurer of the Cotton exchange, is a defaulter for $28,000. Poupart had charge of the bank box which contained the city and state bonds belonging to the Cotton exchange. He pledged the bonds to three banks—the Germania, the National Bank of Commerce and the Mutual National bank—and squandered the money received in lottery tickets. Suits were filed against the banks for the recovery of the bonds. Poupart and an accomplice, George Penser, have disappeared.

Hearty at 103.

SHELBYVILLE, Ill., Feb. 20.—Mrs. Wm. Dutton enjoys the distinction of being the oldest resident in Effingham county. She was born in 1785 and will celebrate her 103d anniversary next month. She has seventy-three children and grandchildren. She used tobacco until she reached 100, and stopped because she feared it was injuring her health. She is still hale and hearty.

Looking for a Lost Brother.

JAMESTOWN, D. T., Feb. 20. —William Gleason, of Mount Sterling, Ill., who came here to search for the remains of his brother Robert, who was supposed to have perished near Pingree in the storm of last month, has returned to Jamestown after a long and unsuccessful search. He will remain here until spring, or until such time as the snow melts, and then renew the search.

Obtained Cattle by False Pretenses.

GREENSBURG, Ind., Feb. 20.—The jury in the case of Frank Elder, a stock buyer of this county, and well known to cattle men of Cincinnati, who has been on trial here for a day or two, charged with obtaining cattle by false pretenses, returned a verdict of guilty, fixing his punishment at one year in the state's prison.

W. W. Corcoran.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—11:30 a. m.—The friends of Mr. W. W. Corcoran say his condition this morning is very critical and his death is liable to occur at any time.

Resuming Work

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—Thirty-nine of the forty-five collieries of the Reading Coal and Iron company are reported in operation this morning.

WASHINGTON, February 20.—Indiana: Colder, fair weather.

THE CAPITAL CITY.

The President Recommends That the Treaty of the Fishery Conference be Made Public.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The senate has received a copy of the treaty drawn up by the fishery conference. It will be read in secret session this afternoon.

Senator Sherman is now closeted with the executive clerk and is reading the president's message, which recommends that the treaty be made public. The recommendation will be taken into consideration in secret session this afternoon.

MURDERED HIS COUSIN.

The Fearful Results of a Love Quarrel.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 20.—Henry C. Grote killed Fred Behrens in the parlor of the residence, No. 1,218 Montgomery street. The two young men were cousins and lifelong companions. Both were paying attention to Miss Bertha Simonds, who resides with her parents at the above number. They have always been the best of friends until very recently, when their attentions to the girl made each jealous of the other. They met in the parlor, and quarrelled in the lady's presence. After an exchange of epithets and bitter words Grote drew a revolver and, actually thrusting the muzzle in his cousin's mouth, blowed the top of his head off. Behrens died instantly, and Grote was arrested.

A BADLY DAMAGED CHARACTER.

Mr. Donovan Wants $10,000 for Alleged Libel.

BIG RAPIDS, Mich., Feb. 20.—The Big Rapids Herald reported, Saturday, that one James Donovan had brought suit against the Hon. M. P. Gale, G. F. Stearns, J. P. Underwood, C. W. Comstock and J. G. McElwee for defamation of character, claiming damages of $5,-000. Donovan now retaliates by suing William P. Nisbett, editor of the Herald for $10,000, claiming that the Herald article is libelous.

Missing for Months.

FLEMINGSBURG, Ky., Feb. 20.—Wellington Barnes, a wealthy gentleman of this county, also in the banking business at Geneva, Kan., left the latter place for a hunt in the Indian territory two days after Christmas, since which time nothing has been heard from him. He had arranged his business matters for an absence of not to exceed two weeks, and his family and friends here entertain the gravest apprehensions as to his safety. He has very large interests here.

Defaulter Lucas Makes a Threat.

WAPAKONETA, Ohio, Feb. 20.—The Lucas $12,000 was to-day sent from Toronto. Lucas claims that he was only a thief by compulsion and promises to tell a story of blackmail and misery that will arouse the sympathy of the suffering public. A female and exorbitant demand is his excuse for his infamy. His story is believed only by a few.

Foreign News.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—A heavy snow has fallen in the north of England. Railroad traffic is seriously delayed. Thousands of sheep are buried in the snow. A few persons have died from exposure.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Judge O'Rourke and Judge Chapin listened to motions and issues to-day.

Hon. C. A. Munson and Dr. Geo. W. Long will go to Indianapolis to-morrow.

Benjamin F. Steinman and Alice Victoria Gibbons have been licensed to wed.

Dr. Younge thought his horse and buggy was stolen to-day, but the outfit was afterward found.

Hon. Eli W. Brown, of Columbia City, one of the most prominent democrats in Indiana, is in town to-day.

George Pressler, who was specially deputized by Sheriff Viberg, took Chas. Hastings, to the prison north to-day.

John Case, who is charged with stealing a ham from John Shaffer, the Grand street grocer, will have a hearing before Esquire Ryan Wednesday.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Wheat, easier, at 75 15-16c. Corn, lower at 47¼c. Oats, easier; May, 31⅜c. Rye, 60c. Prime timothy, $2.49. Flaxseed, $1.44@1.45. Whisky, $1.15. Pork, lower, at $13.97½. Lard, steady, at $7.80. May short ribs, $7.50.

A BARBER in London has recently performed a rather clever feat. The shop was full of customers, and one of them was undergoing the operation of shaving, when it was noticed that the barber had his eyes closed, though he still kept passing the razor over the face of his visitor. After some time, and when the operation was finished, what was the surprise of those in the shop to hear the barber exclaim: "O no, not yet," at the same time opening his eyes. It then became evident that he was fast asleep, and had shaved the man while in that condition.

AFTER TASCOTT.

The Authorities are Close Upon the Heels of the Alleged Snell Murderer.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Chief Hubbard received a dispatch yesterday afternoon that Tascott, the Snell murderer, had been seen at Leaf River, ninety-seven miles from Chicago, in a buggy, by a former schoolmate, and that he drove away in a buggy. The officers went after him last night and expected to overtake him within forty eight hours.

Tascott is not as old as first reported. He is only twenty-one, and instead of being five feet nine inches, he is probably not over five feet eight and a half. One of his chief traits is his fondness for pool playing and his expertness at the game.

FIFTEEN CARS DERAILED.

A Bad Wreck on the Pittsburg Road, Near Warsaw, Last Night.

One of the worst freight wrecks that has occurred on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad for some time happened last night at 8 o'clock to freight train No. 73, at Koskiusko, a small station five miles this side of Warsaw. The cause of the wreck could not be learned at the company's depot this morning, although the officials were free in giving all the particulars they knew about it.

In some manner fifteen loaded freight cars were derailed and tumbling over on their sides the contents, consisting of all kinds of merchandise, were scattered about in a promiscous manner over the muddy ground. The cars were badly smashed up, but none of the employes of the train were injured. The merchandise that was thus unceremoniously unloaded consisted of dry goods, groceries, &c., and in the wreck, the boxes containing them were shattered to pieces and the goods were injured greatly by the rain that fell during the night.

The wreck blockaded the track all night and it was impossible for trains to pass. Passenger train No. 4, due here this morning, was compelled to go around by the way of North Manchester and struck the Pittsburg track again at Columbia City arriving in this city nearly three hours late.

JACK DENAHY.

He Was Arrested at Crestline and Narrowly Escaped Lynching at Dunkirk.

Last Friday night, when Engineer Jack Denahy, of the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne road, got into the Crestline round house with his engine, the sheriff from Dunkirk, Ohio, was there to receive him.

The next day, Saturday, he was taken to Dunkirk, Ohio, to answer the charge of seducing and betraying a girl at that place. When Denahy and the officer alighted from the train they found an excited mob to receive them. The crowd yelled: "There he is," "Get a rope," "Lynch him," and otherwise made it anything but comfotrable for the prisoner. He, however, was not caught napping, for he had with him an attorney from Crestline. His purpose was to show that he was under bonds in this city on a charge of betraying Mary Middleton, a Fort Wayne girl.

While under bonds in Indiana he could not be held in Ohio, and in that way got out of an ugly predicament.

The officer had all he could do to protect him from the mob and took him in a hotel until last night, when, under cover of darkness, he returned to this city.

The girl Denahy is said to have seduced at Dunkirk is an imbecile and has been since childhood, hence the anger of the people.

POLICE PICKUPS.

The Sabbath Work is Given in a Nutshell.

There was nothing startling in police circles over Sunday.

The record below gives the news in the department briefly, but with illustrated effect.

Martin Nagle, drunk, jail.
William Smith, drunk, $12, paid.
Ira Bowen, drunk, $12, paid.
Tillie Tillman, drunk, $12, paid.
Andrew Smith, public indecency; Minnie Steinman, prostitute; Jacob Hiser, keeping open saloon on Sunday, $18.00.
Charles Galliger, gambling, $17.00.
Officer Humbrecht stepped into Hiser's saloon last night and discovered six or seven men gambling. The fellows leaped through windows and all got away, save Galliger.

Hiram College President.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 20.—Rev. H. V. Zollars, the pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, has accepted the presidency of Hiram college, of Hiram, Ohio.

Mrs. Harriet Koehler, the wife of Mr. Michael Koehler living on Calhoun street, south of the city, died at 1 o'clock this afternoon aged 41 years, of lung fever. The funeral has not yet been announced.

MONDAY, FEB. 20, 1888.

THE president and Mrs. Cleveland will leave Washington for Florida, tomorrow, accompanied by Secretary and Mrs. Whitney, Colonel and Mrs. Lamont. They expect to return Saturday.

THE defendants in the Ohio tally sheet forgeries seem to have played havoc with Rascal Granville's testimony. The whole thing is clearly proven to be a republican scheme to injure prominent democrats.

THE Americans seem to have decidedly the best of the fisheries business and the Canadians are just realizing the fact. Their redress is to annex themselves to the United States and reap the reward of democratic diplomacy with us.

THE republicans of Indiana are hopelessly divided between Harrison and Gresham as presidential favorites. The Gazette is for Gresham and claims originality in that particular domain. This harmony in the radical ranks is cheering, indeed.

BRUNO G. SCHMITZ, the artist and architect whose design for the Indiana soldiers' monument was selected by the monument commission, has arrived at the state capital from Germany. It will be two months before work will begin on the elegant tribute to Hoosier soldiers.

MR. GEO. W. CHILDS, of the Philadelphia Ledger, says that if "by any chance in the chapter of unforseen events" he should happen to be elected president, he would decline the office. Mr. Blaine could lift an oppressive load off of republican minds by a declination like Mr. Childs makes.

THIS congress seems to be disposing of the surplus money in the United States treasury in a manner to suit the most fastidious protectionist. Something like $80,000,000 for the Blair educational bill, $30,000,000 for public buildings, and $20,000,000 for rivers and harbors, make a wide gap in the revenues of the government.

THE result of the special election in Michigan to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Congressman Moffat is attracting wide attention. The district at one time gave 8,000 republican majority. Two years ago Moffat was elected by over 2,000 majority. Seymour's majority over Breen at the recent special election will not exceed 100 votes and the issue, too, was purely on the tariff.

GOVERNOR GRAY is at Washington and may find it convenient to impress the statesmen there that we can carry Indiana easier than Don M. Dickinson can win Michigan from the republicans, a great deal easier than Mr. Viles can carry Wisconsin or Mr. Black Illinois. Indiana is a democratic state, all things being equal, and Mr. Gray can make a certainty of it.

It frequently happens that parties happy to note, at least, one instance where a church divides. We are one when separation. Twelve years ago a serious disruption occurred in the First Baptist Church of Westchester, Pa., which resulted in the formation of a new society. Neither the old nor the new seemed to thrive. Recently the two branches "made up," were remarried, and now go on their way rejoicing in renewed prosperity.

AFTER many years of experimenting, with the object of increasing the speed of vessels and lessening their draft by a change in the formation of the hull, a Pennsylvania inventor has succeeded in constructing a boat which he claims fulfills the desiderata so long sought, and is in entire accordance with true scientific theory. This boat, which is some thirty-six feet long, is of the shape known as the concave bottom, the hull being built in a right and left hand spiral form from the bow to the middle section. The conformation of the hull in this case is such as to displace water in a manner closely approximating to the wave-line theory, beginning at the cutwater, the displacement being accomplished gradually until the center of the boat is reached, when the reverse action of displacement begins; the concave begins where the convex ends. The greater the speed the greater the lifting power, the boat rising on the water, and consequently moving with greater speed without any increase of power.

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

AN English correspondent gives as a reason for possibility that the English language will become the "world-speech" the mental slowness of the Anglo-Saxon race in learning two languages. They traverse the globe unaffected and undismayed by its eccentricities of speech. The English-speaking countries have an area of more than one-fifth of the whole habitable globe. English is the language of the high seas, and is spoken in every maritime port.

WHEN Gen. Frank Spinola, who is a member of the present House of Representatives from New York, was in the State Senate at Albany, one Peter Mitchell had been zealously advocating a bill to increase the number of local Judges. A New York newspaper accused him of a selfish interest arising out of his desire to get one of the proposed new judgeships. Next day Peter rose to denounce the allegation and defy the "alligator." "Why, Mr. President," he said, with fine scorn, "I would not take one of those judgeships if it should be handed me on a gold plate." "May I ask the gentleman a question?" put in Spinola. "Certainly," responded Mitchell, loftily. "What would become of the plate?" asked Spinola. And he sat down amid the laughter of the Senate.

H. A. DUBUQUE, of Fall River, Mass., has a document showing unmistakable signs of age, dated Nov. 6, 1735. It reveals that there were oyster beds in the Taunton River in those days, and that the settlers fought for their possession. Daniel Brown, of Somerset, was the writer, and was evidently giving testimony, for he relates that on the day in question he saw a number of his acquaintances in three canoes, engaged in raking up oysters. A quarrel arose over their respective rights, and Daniel writes that one man repeatedly plunged a fork into the body of another man until he thought that "murder had been done." The paper is torn at a point where Mr. Brown's "eyes became riveted on the combatants," and nobody knows whether anyone was killed or not.

A VERY good showing is made by the Freedman's Aid Society of the work it has accomplished. The society has established twenty-four schools, employing 124 teachers, with an average attendance of 4,596 pupils. There are fifteen schools for whites, with an attendance of 2,000. To carry on the work on the plans proposed for next year will require almost $250,000, and of this sum only $700 is on hand. Since its foundation the society has expended almost $2,000,000 in the work of education in the South, and has school property of almost $1,000,000 in value in its possession. The receipts for last year were $184,424.55, of which sum the conference collections amounted to $85,930. Bequests yielded $24,060.25. Of the receipts of $184,424.55, only $20,957.55 was paid by students. The total expense for the year amounted to $183,089.96.

Glass Mill-Stones.

Glass mill-stones consist usually of eight sections of glass fastened together by the use of strips of wood, nine millimetres wide, to which the glass is cemented. After cementing the parts together a piece of wood three centimetres broad and one thick is cemented about the outer circumference of the stone, reaching to its entire height. This increases the cohesion of the stones and makes the attachment of the outer iron hoop more easy. This iron hoop is fastened by means of fifty wooden screws to the wooden hoop, about five millimetres below the grinding surface, and in such a manner as to admit of easy removal without breaking. The eye of the stone, as well as the indirect grinding surface, consists of pure cement. A ring in the aperture at the center insures durability and strength at that point. The glass grinding surface has a mild grip or roughness which it never entirely loses. A dress is employed similar to that used on sweetwater quartz stones, and the glass stones must be dressed as carefully and often as French stones, though the work is easier. Those who think the surface will hold ten to fifteen years without dressing are laboring under a great mistake.—Berliner Muller Zeitung.

Sleeplessness.

Narcotics and sedatives murder sleep; the unnatural stupor is soon followed by ill effects. Simmons Liver Regulator removes the cause of restlessness and sleeplessness by regulating the bowels, by establishing good digestion and by quieting the nerves.

"I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and loss of sleep. As soon as I feel the least nervous I take a dose of Simmons Liver Regulator, and sleep all night."

MRS. R. BRYANT, Griswoldville, Ga.

THE setting of a great hope is like the setting of the sun. The brightness of our life is gone. Shadows of evening fall around us, and the world seems but a dim reflection, itself a broader shadow. We look forward into the coming lonely night. The soul withdraws into itself. The stars arise, and the night is holy.—Longfellow.

TENDERNESS makes a woman grateful; a noble manhood compels all her deep instincts of love.—Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney.

Everybody needs a spring medicine. By using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the blood is thoroughly cleansed and invigorated, the appetite stimulated, and the system prepared to resist the diseases peculiar to the summer months. Ask for Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Take no other.

One Thing Proved, Anyway.

Any one with half an eye can see that the object of the Republicans in their action in the house in the Carlisle-Thobe contest was to embarrass the majority and delay the proposed action upon tax reduction. Happily that absurd contest is now ended, and we hope to see the Democratic majority now push on with the work. This contest proved one thing that is worth something to know—that the leaders of the Republican party cannot prevent a split among their members, which was demonstrated also in the senate in the Lamar contest.—Colorado Transcript.

Grasping at Straws.

Will the leaders of the Republican party never have done with the preposterous claim that their organization crushed the institution of slavery? Is the record of that party so lean and rank that, in order to make a decent showing, it must be padded with false pretenses? Is political capital so scarce on the Republican side that the facts of recent history must be falsified to meet distressful contingencies? And do those leaders place so low an estimate on popular intelligence that they really expect to be believed when they set up false claims?—Washington Post.

What Difference Does It Make?

With a robust Sherman boom in Ohio, a wheezy little Jerry Rusk boom in Wisconsin, kept alive by careful nursing; a Robert Lincoln boom in Illinois, which keeps Robert in continued ill temper, and a Stanford boom in California—expensive—with Hawley, Hiscock, Evarts, Don Cameron, Harrison, the Hoar family and Russell Lowell all waiting to be boomed, the Republicans may have a happy time.

As these booms now look Mr. Blaine will have to kill off a good many rivals before he wins.—New York Herald.

Why New York Should Have It.

Gen. Roger A. Pryor thinks that it would strengthen the Democratic party in all parts of the country if the national convention should be held in New York. He does not think it ought to go to Chicago, which city is in a state invincibly Republican, while New York, on the other hand, is Democratic, and the holding of the convention in its metropolis would have a decided effect in arousing a deep and profitable interest in the campaign.—Atlanta Constitution.

What Fun!

Murat Halstead announces that a terrible and bloody war may break out at any moment in this country. It would be interesting to watch Murat's capers if any of the battles should take place close to Cincinnati.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Vain Hope.

It is fatuousness, pure and simple, for any Republican to hope for accessions to his party in the south when the best and most respectable Republicans in the north have left or are leaving the organization. —Atlanta Constitution.

Was He Thought of This?

Mr. Blaine, having become an authority on tobacco, should come out squarely on the cigarette question. If he is to have the support of the cigar smokers he must condemn the cigarette.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

His Career Shows Up.

Senator Kenna, in his sensible reply to Senator Sherman's war tariff speech, did not let the opportunity slip to diffuse some useful information about Sherman himself.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Welcomed by All.

Mr. Cox leaves the speaker's chair with the ruddy light of a glorious "Sunset." Mr. Carlisle returns with a warm welcome from 325 representatives. There are no more.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Luck in White House Visits.

Another of Mrs. Cleveland's schoolmates, Miss Kate Willard, is visiting at the Executive Mansion. With a delightful impartiality the fair mistress of the White House is slowly going the rounds of her old school friends, inviting one after another to enjoy the novel and charming experience of a short stay at "the Palace," as the young ladies have christened the altogether commonplace edifice that serves the president for both offices and mansion.

A pretty young girl who belongs to what is called the White House set, and who has met nearly all of Mrs. Cleveland's visitors, said to a correspondent at a recent reception: "It would be easy enough to know what an awfully nice girl Mrs. Cleveland used to be just by meeting the splendid girls that come to visit her. No lady could have such a lot of delightful chums, unless she were just as nice as she could be herself. And these are not the sort of girls that come to see her because they can visit at the White House. They love her, and would go anywhere to spend a day with her. I hear, though, that a pretty little superstition is afloata mong her old schoolmates that the best of luck always follows these visits to Washington. Several of the girls that have been down here have got married since their return home, and all the rest of them are engaged. The girls think it is better than finding a four-leaf clover, and those who have not been here are crazy to come."—Washington Cor. Boston Globe.

The Big Gun at Pittsburg.

The big cast gun at Pittsburg is now in its second stage, that of boring, which will probably occupy the rest of this month, since the process of turning the gun around the fixed tool must be deliberately executed, although the process itself is among the simplest as well as most familiar in gun making. The present is only the rough boring, and the riding is to be done afterward, but the interest excited in it is due to the anxiety to know the quality of the steel in the interior of the mass, as revealed by the scraps turned out. Thus far, as inch after inch the hole is deepened, the material proves as good as could be desired, and so confirms the expectations excited by testing the parts trimmed away from the breech. As this gun was cast solid, it is specially important to know how the steel in the interior, when bored out, would compare with that on the surface.

When all is done an exciting contest may be looked for on the Annapolis proving ground. First it will be found whether the cast six inch gun can pass the government tests for acceptance, and then there may be an endurance test with a built up gun of the same caliber—a fight to a finish, to see which will burst first.—Washington Letter.

The annual horseradish fair near Berlin is a great event. At the recent fair 700 tons of horseradish were disposed of; also several hundred thousand kegs of beer.

A Great Thinker on "Convictions."

Benjamin Franklin, somewhat known to fame in this country and the whole civilized world as a patriot, philosopher, and statesman, delivered a characteristic speech to the convention which framed the United States Constitution, before appending his signature to that document. The following is an extract from his speech:

"Mr. President, I confess that I do not entirely approve of the Constitution at present; but I am not sure I shall never approve of it—for having lived long I have experienced many instances of being obliged by better information or fuller consideration, to exchange opinions, even on important subjects, which I once thought was right but found to be otherwise. It is, therefore, that the older I grow the more apt I am to doubt my own judgment, and to pay more respect to the judgment of others. Most men, indeed, as well as most sects in religion, think themselves in possession of all truth, and that when others differ from them it is so far error. Steele, a Protestant, in a dedication tells the Pope that the only difference between our two churches in their opinion of the certainty of the doctrine, is Romanish church is infallible and the Church of England is never in the wrong. But though many private persons think almost as highly of their own infallibility as that of their own sect, few express it so naturally as a certain French lady, who in a little dispute with her sister, said: 'I don't know how it happens, sister, but I meet with nobody but myself who is always in the right.'"

People who pride themselves on fixedness in one opinion, whether in politics or religion, on having "convictions" that cannot be shaken, may draw from the above a lesson to lodge in their memories. Let them try to imitate the broadness and strive after a little portion of the wisdom that the great Franklin displayed on so many momentous occasions. One actually feels more contented when he realizes that he is not altogether a superior being, too immaculate for this world of error and contention. No religious sect has all truth, no party all the patriotism, and no individual can claim unerring accuracy of perception and judgment. —Chapman Courier.

THEY tell this story of M. Carnot, uncle of the President of the French Republic: Napoleon Bonaparte, when first Consul, was one day amusing himself on the banks of the minature lake at Malmaison by throwing stones into the water near a boatful of ladies who were with Josephine. The ladies were dressed in rather expensive summer toilets, and, as the stone throwing of the magnate caused them great annoyance, they protested. Napoleon, however, continued his amusement, when a little boy, 4 years old, who had been looking on, ran up to him and said: "You brute of a first Consul, will you leave off tormenting the ladies?" The Consul stopped as if stupefied, and on seeing the boy, burst out laughing. The youthful knight-errant was young Carnot, who had accompanied his father, Napoleon's Minister of War, to Malmaison.

HEEL AND TOE.

His cheeks were full, round and red; the face of a fine, healthy child. The little fellow had been coasting; his feet were wet and cold—chilled to the bone. He had a fine time, he said, and was shortly ready for bed, where he was "tucked in" by his gentle mother, and was soon asleep. In an hour he waked cross and crying. "Mamma," he said, "mosquitoes is eating my feet up." That was just it. He was feeling for the first time the pangs of chilblains. Jack Frost had nipped his toes. We grown people don't appreciate how children suffer. If a hundred mosquitoes went to work at once on a man's bare foot, he would know what that child suffered. A burning, itching swelling that becomes a torture, and leaves the feet so tender they will hardly bear weight. It is not because we do not sympathize, but because we do not seek out and find what will give prompt and permanent relief that they are condemned to this racking torture, without sleep, night after night. Now, in proof a case may be cited to show that people are sometimes so crippled by frost bites as to be helpless and thrown out of work in consequence. Miss Kate Shults, Mount Washington, Baltimore county, Md., writes, under date of October 22, 1884: "After being told by two prominent physicians that they could not give me any cure for frost bite, I tried St. Jacob's Oil and it proved a blessing. Every winter I was prevented from earning my living by frost bite, but since using the Oil I have not been troubled with it." It is, in its nature, the very thing; acting as a gentle counter-irritant, it draws out the fever and fire produced by the frost, reduces the swelling, heals the soreness, and there are no tender feet afterward. Now, for mercy's sake, when you see a little one tortured in this way, remember this. The feet becoming once tender and sensitive are subject every winter to a return of this pain.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

OH! MY HEAD.

The pain from Neuralgia and its companion disease Rheumatism is excruciating. Thousands who could be quickly cured are needlessly suffering. Ath-lo-pho-ros will do for others what it did for the following parties:

Williamsport, Ind., Oct. 8, 1887.
Having been afflicted with neuralgia for the past four years, and trying almost everything, but in vain, I finally heard of Athlophoros. After taking one bottle I found it to be helping me, and after taking four bottles of Athlophoros and one of Pills, I found that I was entirely well. I think the medicine is positively a sure cure.

I have used Athlophoros in my family and find it to be the greatest medicine for neuralgia in existence and having had its fangs fastened upon me for the past 20 years I know whereof I speak. MRS. JULIA CHRITTON.

Wrong

To imagine that the treatment of Constipation consists merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. This is what Simmons Liver Regulator always does.

"As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels."—W. J. McELROY, Macon, Ga.

Believe us, when we tell you that most of the despondent feeling (the blues) is the effect of a Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Weakness of Stomach, and Nervousness. A dose of Simmons Liver Regulator invariably relieves, cures and prevents a re-occurrence.

"I find Simmons Liver Regulator, very safe, harmless and valuable as a family medicine, and have used it for any disorder of the system and have found it to act like a charm, and I believe that if it was used in time, it would prove a great preventive of sickness. I have often recommended it to my friends, and shall continue to do so."—Rev. JAMES. M. ROLLINS, Fairfield, Va.

Simmons Liver Regulator is given with safety and with the happiest results, in almost any ailment, to the most delicate infant as well as to the adult. For all diseases in which a laxative, alterative, or purgative is needed, it will give the most perfect satisfaction. It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. ZEILIN & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, worn-out, "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

GHOSTS AT SEA.

In the seventeenth century a ship was about to sail from Salem, Mass., for England. Her cargo was under hatches, her sails bent and her passengers aboard, when two strangers came to her and engaged passage. The couple were a young man and woman who, so tradition says, were endowed with wonderful beauty. Who they were or from whence they came none of the good folk of Salem knew. Long before the ship sailed, she being detained by adverse winds, the mysterious actions of the strange couple had aroused the suspicions of the townspeople, and there were many who pronounced them witches, if, indeed, they were not demons—actual children of Satan in fleshy guise. Many even went so far as to prophesy disaster to the vessel if they should sail in her, and approached the captain and urged him to decline to carry them to sea. The bluff seaman refused to listen, and, the wind serving, the vessel sailed upon a Friday. She never reached her destination and was never spoken. It is told, however, that later in the year incoming vessels, fishermen, and coastwise traders reported sighting a craft with luminous rigging and sails and shining hull and spars. She was sailing with all canvas against the wind, with a crew of dead seamen standing in the shrouds and leaning over the rail, while upon the quarter deck stood a young and beautiful corpse.

Old whalemen as they sat spinning yarns about the stove at the ship chandler's tell of meeting in the Japan Sea or Indian Ocean a small, lumpy ship, managed by a crew of graybeards—the sail tattered and patched, and the running rigging spliced in a hundred places. The hull was battered and stained and the paint was worn completely off the planking, and as she rolled in the sea-way it was noticed that her hull below the water-line was covered with a thick coating of barnacles. As the speaking vessel came alongside this seaworn craft the crew, with imploring gestures, begged to be taken off, and stated that they were young men when the vessel sailed; that they had found no whales, and that the master had sworn to cruise until filled. As they told their strange story the captain rushed from the cabin, and, waving an iron hook that supplied the place of his lost right hand, drove the crew from the side, and shouting to the man at the wheel, the mysterious whaler's course was changed, and as she sailed away she seemed to vanish in a mist that suddenly surrounded her. The old whalers who listened to this yarn would wag their heads sagely and acquiesce in the deduction that such an apparition could only bode ill to those who witnessed it.

The fisherman of Gaspe sometimes see a ship sailing into the bay. She is of strange antique build, with high poop and forecastle and is quaintly rigged aloft. Her deck is covered with troops, and from her ports and cabin windows bright lights stream through the darkness. At the heel of the bowsprit stands an officer, with richly laced coat and feathered hat, who points to shore as though showing the place of landing to a lady who is leaning on his arm. Suddenly a shriek of horror is heard, the lights disappear and the vessel slowly sinks. This apparition is said to be the specter of the flagship of a fleet sent out by Queen Anne that was lost with all on board.

In 1752 the Dutch trading vessel Palatine was wrecked on Block Island, and the story is told that the wreckers made short work of stripping her and setting fire to the hull. As she drifted blazing off the coast it is said that a human form was visible amid the flames, the form of a female passenger on the wrecked craft, left to perish by the wreckers. Since, and usually upon the anniversary of the wreck, a phantom ship with blazing hull, charred spars, and scorched sails and rigging, has been seen cruising off Block Island, and has been regarded by coasting captains as a sure forerunner of bad weather and disaster.

The legend of the famous ocean specter, the Flying Dutchman, has formed the theme of song and story until its salient features are familiar to the landsman as the tale of the Cock lane ghost, yet few realize that Vanderdecken is still cruising, bringing disaster to every craft he encounters, as he battles the storms of the South Atlantic in futile attempts to double the Cape of Good Hope, as he swore to do, in spite of God or Satan, if he sailed till eternity. Vanderdecken's craft has been usually sighted to leeward, making good weather under full sail against the force of a gale that causes other vessels to run under bare poles.

Cotton Mather tells how a new ship sailed from New Haven, 1647, and was never heard from. In June of the same year, about an hour before sunset, a ship the very twin of the ship that had sailed in January was seen to sail up the river against the wind and current. As she drew nearer she grew indistinct and slowly disappeared from view. This visitation was held to be a notification of the loss of the outgoing ship, and it was commented upon in the pulpit.

How Politeness Won a Dry-Goods Salesman Fame.

Some years ago, a dry-goods salesman in a London store had acquired such a reputation for courtesy and exhaustless patience that it was said to be impossible to provoke from him any expression of irritability or the slightest symptoms of vexation. A lady of rank, hearing of his wonderful equanimity, determined to test it by all the annoyances with which a veteran shop visitor knows how to tease a salesman. She failed in the attempt, and thereupon set him up in business. He arose to eminence in his trade, and the mainspring of his latter as well as his earlier career was politeness. — Merchant Traveler.

It is a good rule to accept only such medicines as are known to be worthy of confidence. It has been the experience of thousands that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best medicine ever used for throat and lung diseases.

About Marriage-Ties.

The Roman husband took his wife not as her husband but as her father. She came into his family the same almost as an adopted daughter. Originally the husband had absolute and complete control over her property. Even after his death she was subjected to any guardianship that he might have had appointed for her during his lifetime. But a change came in her condition, and came as changes usually come, from one extreme to another. The wife was now subject to the tutelage of guardians appointed by her own family. This tutelage gave her a very independent position as to her separate estate and person.

If the Romans did not countenance polygamy the Hebrews did, and they had a more peculiar custom. There was a law among them called the Levirate, which means brother-in-law, and, according to this law, at the death of the husband the next oldest unmarried brother-in-law of the widow married her, if there were no children. In this way the wife of the eldest brother might, in the course of time, have been the wife of all the brothers. This custom afterward extended to many of the western nations, but the marriage took place whether there were any children or not.

Pioneer marriages in this country, not a century ago, has some resemblance to a Hebrew wedding. In these days the marriage was the cause of great excitement, and the whole neighborhood was usually invited. As the houses of the bride and groom were generally far apart the groom started early in the morning on a horse as highly caparisoned as the times would allow. The marriage generally took place before noon, to enable the whole party to return to the groom's home before dark.

The marriage was always celebrated at night and the bridesmaids were provided with lamps to meet the bridegroom when he came. On his arrival he found the bride, bridesmaids, and company awaiting him. As soon as the actual ceremony was over the entire party returned to the bridegroom's house with great rejoicing. When they reached the house they partook of the wedding feast. The festivities usually lasted fourteen days. The groom not only furnished the feast but the robes of those who took part in the ceremony.

There is in the Royal library of Paris a written contract made in 1297 between two persons of royal birth in Armigal. The husband and wife were bound to each other for seven years. It was also agreed that the parties should have the right to renew the tie at the end of that time if they mutually agreed; but if not, the children were to be equally divided and if the number should chance not to be even they were to draw lots for the odd one.

There was another kind of marriage called polygnia, and like the Levirate, it extended to the western countries. This, however, did not gain much foothold among the Hebrews. Polygnia was simply polygamy reversed. According to it the woman was the head of the house, and might have as many legal husbands at one time as she pleased. Her children bore her name and recognized her as the head of the house.

The Roman Church alone regarded marriage as a sacrament, but all the other churches recognize it as a divine institution, and, accordingly, every denomination has provided religious services for its solemnization. So strong a hold did the church in England gain upon it that for a long time the regulation of marriage and divorce was almost exclusively under the church's jurisdiction.

Some of the customs attending a Hebraic marriage were peculiar. The bridegroom dressed himself in the most gorgeous style he could command. He next perfumed himself with frankincense and myrrh. Then he went forth covered with garlands, or, if he were rich, he would wear a circlet of gold and ride a gayly caparisoned horse.

The Reason Why

Ayer's Pills are so popular is, that while always reliable as a cathartic medicine, they never leave any ill effects. This is because they are purely vegetable, and entirely free from calomel or any other dangerous drug. In all cases, therefore, whether the patient be old or young, they may be confidently administered.

In the Southern and Western States, where derangements of the liver are so general, Ayer's Pills have proved an inestimable blessing. D. W. Baine, New Berne, N. C., writes:

"I suffered a long time with stomach and liver troubles. I tried various remedies, but received no benefit until I commenced taking Ayer's Pills. These pills benefited me at once. I took them regularly for a few months, and my health was completely restored."

Throughout New England, next to lung diseases, Stomach and Bowel Complaints are the most prevalent.

Dyspepsia

and Constipation are almost universal. Mr. Gallacher, a practical chemist, of Roxbury, Mass., who was long troubled with Dyspepsia, writes:

"A friend induced me to try Ayer's Pills, and, after taking one box without much benefit, I was disposed to quit them; but he urged perseverance, and, before I had finished the second box, I began to experience relief. I continued taking them, at intervals, until I had used eleven boxes. Suffice it to say, that I am now a well man, and grateful to your chemistry, which outstrips mine."

The head and stomach are always in sympathy; hence the cause of most of those distressing headaches, to which so many, especially women, are subject. Mrs. Harriet A. Marble, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., writes that for years she was a martyr to headache, and never found anything to give her more than temporary relief, until she began taking Ayer's Pills, since which she has been in the enjoyment of perfect health.

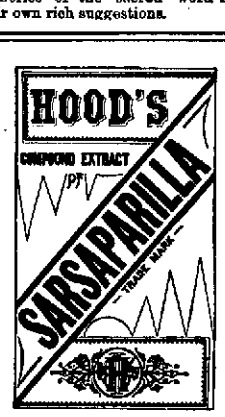
Views on the Jordon.

Rapid, turbulent and dangerous as is this historic river, rich beyond all others in sacred associations, it has, notwithstanding its numerous violent rapids, intervals of quiet beauty. Unique, like the Dead Sea, in which it finally loses itself, this remarkable stream is well worth attentive consideration. Well calculated in its physical phenomena for the symbolic use it has served, its singular features as studied by the traveler are strongly illustrative and suggestive in connection with sacred story. Actual distance from the place where the Jordon emerges from the Sea of Galilee to its final destination, where it is merged in the Dead Sea, is only sixty miles; yet so multitudinous are its doublings and windings that measurements proves its crooked course to be not less than 200 miles. Not in slow and graceful curves is the distance run gracefully from its rise, about 600 feet below the level of the Mediterranean, but turbulently plunging its muddy torrent over a series of violent rapids, there being not less than twenty-seven such rapids between the Lake of Tiberins and the Dead Sea, it descends to a depth of 1,300 feet below the Mediterranean where it merges with the Dead Sea, and its rapid torrent and frequent floods make it a terror rather than an object of delight to those who dwell along its circuitous shores. Only from twenty to thirty yards in breadth, the few and dangerous fords and the sudden terrible floods which rendered bridges useless even when possible, all tended to make this remarkable river an excellent barrier between the Israelites and licentious idolaters from whom they were to be cut off. No wonder that Naaman, the proud Syrian, in view of the peculiarities of the Jordon, exclaimed when directed to bathe in its waters: "Are not Abana and Pharpar, rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel?" The present bathing place of pilgrims is the traditional site of our Lord's baptism, the famed "fords of the Jordon," sought by all travelers. Deeply cut in the marly soil is the channel of the river. Its waters throughout most of its course are hidden from the eye. From an elevation, however, its flow may be determined by the thick green foliage of luxuriant oleanders, willows and tamarisks which cluster on its banks. It were easy to point many a moral as we glance with the mind's eye along the Jordon's course. Each can do this best, however, for himself. Memories of the sacred word bring their own rich suggestions.



The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is worthy your confidence. It is peculiar in that it strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. Give it a trial.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

MISS JULIA MARLOWE.

All the Chicago Critics Do Her Rare Honors.

Miss Julia Marlowe closed her engagement at the Chicago Grand opera house Saturday night in "The Lady of Lyons," and with her party arrived in the city this morning, to present "Ingomar" at the Temple opera house to-night.

The Chicago Times, yesterday, speaking of Mrs. Langtry, said: "And yet she (Mrs. Langtry) has large audiences night after night, a fact with which nobody would be disposed to quarrel if, while it is in progress, a young actress, Miss Julia Marlowe, whose every nerve is vibrant with the thrill of veritable dramatic gifts, were not left to play in another theatre to almost empty benches."

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "Miss Marlowe succeeded in two important particulars; she addressed the voice of prophecy to the understanding of her critics, and she aroused radically conflicting opinions in the minds of her intelligent few patrons. This was much to do. On the one hand was established belief in her future; on the other was set assurance that Miss Marlowe, young, inexperienced, undeveloped physically as well as artistically, has talent above mediocrity if it does not rise to the commanding heights of genius."

Col. George H. Humphrey Post.

The new Col. Geo. H. Humphrey G. A. R. Post was mustered in Saturday evening by Capt. H. C. Eastwood, assisted by Post Commander Allen H. Dougall, Post Commander J. C. Kecaill and other visiting comrades from Anthony Wayne and Sion S. Bass posts. The following officers were elected:
